Council supports school protest group

MEMBERS of Cowbridge with Llanblethian Town Council have decided to support the governing body of Y Bont Faen Primary School and oppose plans to move the school into the grounds of Cowbridge Comprehensive School.

Such a move would make it a 'straight through' school for ages three to 19, under one head teacher.

The council says that a new, larger primary school should instead be built on land at Darren Farm.

The town council considered the Vale Council's Cowbridge Primary Provision Consultation Document at a meeting and, after lengthy discussion and an address by the chairman of the governors of Y Bont Faen Primary, and one other governor, a response was unanimously adopted.

(The full response is available to read on the Cowbridge with Llanblethian Town Council website, www.cowbridge-tc.gov.uk)

A town council spokesperson said: "It is the town council's view that this is not a consultation document but a sales document for a particular course of action.

"The document does demonstrate quantitatively that there is an 'immediate need to increase the number of English medium primary school places' but having shown this, the document should have gone on to objectively examine all the possible options for providing the additional places, using an evidence-based approach, and then explain which is the preferred option and why.

"Instead of doing this, the document simply promotes the Vale Council's preferred option.

"The Town Council's view, based on the limited evidence provided, is that there are too many risks and disadvantages associated with the proposed course of action.

"A better alternative would seem to be Alternative D: Expand Y Bont Faen from 210 places to 420 places from September 2022 and transfer the school to the Darren Farm site."

Youngsters take to pitch for 24-hour charity football match

THIS Sunday, January 12, Llantwit Major Junior Football Club are holding a 24hr five-a-side charity football match in aid of Melanoma UK, this season's chosen charity for the club.

The event is taking place at UWC Atlantic Sports Hall in St Donats which is kindly letting the team use the facilities. A large number of the club are involved from the coaches and college students doing the bulk of the 24 hours starting at 7pm on Saturday, to the players - from ages five to 16 – who will all have the opportunity to play a part on the Sunday morning, where a raffle and cake sale will raise further funds for the charity.

The club would like to thank Crookies Shish Parlour and Rogers of Llantwit who are providing food for all the players in the evenings, and all those who have donated items for the raffle and helped sell tickets.

Follow Match For Melanoma on Facebook for updates and information on raffle ticket prizes and sales or ask one of our many coaches. To donate or to read the reason why Melanoma UK means so much to the club, visit www.justgiving.com/fundraising/LMJFC.

Vale MP 'not cleared'

IT appears that The GEM is once again printing misleading headlines about Alun Cairns.

Even after the complaints from readers about how you reported his resignation in November, you've now printed the claim that he has been 'cleared' on the front page of the paper.

He hasn't.

The article on page 3 actually says that the chairman of the inquiry into Mr Cairns' conduct felt that he was unlikely NOT to have known about the nefarious activities of his friend Ross England, but that no proof could be found that he did know, therefore the allegation against him failed for lack of evidence.

On the other hand, we still have the e-mail which, if Mr Cairns ever took the trouble to read it, contained information to the effect that Mr England was "confident" that he had got away with his misconduct.

In other words, the Conservative Party could go ahead and allow Mr England's candidature as long as no one asked too many questions, and Mr Cairns didn't need to worry that it would be found out and reflect badly on him.

As it turned out, this was bad advice, and it speaks of a sense of entitlement on the part of both Mr England and his mentors.

The fact that Mr Cairns chose not to question Mr England's candidature shows that, while he may not have been in technical breach of the government's ministerial code, he was certainly guilty of poor judgement in failing to recognise the seriousness of the matter. Ignorance is not a very convincing defence.

(Name and address supplied)

GEM NOTE:

Mr Cairns was cleared of breaching the Ministerial code, so the headline is accurate. The article, as the letter writer acknowledges, repeated Sir Andrew Allen's assertion that he found it 'unlikely' that Mr Cairns would not have been told about Mr England's conduct during the abandoned rape trial.

The GEM is confident that readers are able to read the facts as reported and make up their own mind.

Charity continues to grow

WE at Cardiff and Vale Fibrofighters are pleased to say that we have finally been officially given our charity number.

We would like to thank everyone for their support during the process and without you we would have struggled to grow as we have.

Special thanks to Vale MP Alun Cairns who, alongside Glamorgan Voluntary Services, has given much help and support.

We have had help from lots of other areas too, with backing from the police, Cardiff Airport and the NHS throughout, including the wellbeing nurses.

With all this help we have grown to be running three groups over Barry, Penarth and Fairwater.

We give support and advice to sufferers and their carers of the neurological disease fybromyalgia, and hope to expand the groups to cover all of Cardiff and the Vale.

All are welcome to our groups, which run on a drop-in basis

The Trustees, Linda, Monique and Alan.

Abolition of Barry Town Council

THE insignificance of the voting and meetings at the Barry Town Council: we find it using our taxes to see to the future of the carpet at Wetherspoons Barry, otherwise known as 'Carpetgate'.

The role of the Barry town council and its councillors is so insignificant to our community, and a waste of £100,000 of taxpayers' money every year. In general excluding the fine work of that at Llantwit Major, town councils are pretty pointless, to the extent that the political parties that these councillors represent in these halls, they are never mentioned on their political party websites.

Relating to the representation at these town councils, we never see their mention listed on the BBC national stats.

Should we start seeing discussions on a referendum for the abolishment of the Barry Town Council demonstrated by 'Carpetgate'? Don't we see the result of having less councillors an affirmation of focus as was seen with the unitary authority changes in 1996; with the amalgamation of the South Glamorgan County with the Vale of Glamorgan Borough.

It's time Barry Town Council went, they have survived in Rhoose without such a carbuncle.

Karl-James Langford.

Climate change, what change?

THE term 'climate change' was thought up by profiteers in my view to extract even more money out of people's pockets than they do now.

This climate change hysteria is very infectious and targeted towards the gullible. One small example of this is the promotion of these smart meters, what a nonsense.

The only thing these smart meters will do is to divert and guarantee payments to these profiteers, directly from your bank account to theirs, and in doing so making millions from a worldwide population.

The facts are that these significant weather changes are being caused by our universe continuing to evolve, nothing else. You have only to look back in time to the ancient carvings around the would, read the evidence in the Bible and other old scriptures; these will tell their own story of the tremendous changes over the world, over millions of years.

At this moment our global weather is quite stable and has been for many decades, but things are changing. Our universe has been here before and my predictions are that we are going to have tremendous water level rises because of the ice melt, and there will be another ice age in the distant future.

Our world has been too stable for a long time and something will happen, and there is nothing that we can do to stop it as our universe will continue to evolve.

What we do have is a very serious man made pollution problem which needs to be addressed. The world population needs to drastically decrease its toxic, polluting activities, which are causing tremendous damage to the human body and with a high possibility of early death. Traffic exhaust emissions are polluting roadside properties and causing all sorts of health problems and also death.

There has been a massive increase in traffic-related noise in residential areas, which in my view is causing a big rise in mental disorders such as dementia. Another toxic problem is the minute plastic particles in the drinking water and in the food chain.

Society needs to wake up and get a grip before all these toxins spread any further. We could have had hydrogen and electric powered vehicles years ago, but there was no appetite because there are too many profiteers worldwide with their fingers in the pie and they are not going to give up their means of vast profits until they are forced too.

Another serious man made pollution problem is the promotion by authorities, of these toxic, belching incinerators within highly populated areas causing untold health problems. These amateurs and their advisors in the Welsh Assembly and the Vale Council should have their ability to manage assessed by an independent, experienced panel to sort out the wheat from chaff before they do any more damage to our society.

In my view, at the moment we have the blind leading the blind and things need to change.

Referring back to the term 'climate change' which in my view is a nonsense: yes, the sea levels are rising and looking back in time, sea levels increased as much as 70 metres and then they decreased to a period when there was very little water in the Bristol Channel. All this hysteria/false news in regard to the term climate change churned out by the mass media to sell their nonsense stories is causing anxiety within society and needs to be addressed.

Graham Vodden, Penarth.

Rush hour fall – but 'thank you!'

AT the beginning of December I unfortunately sustained a fall when it was dark outside the new Woodlands development on Cardiff Road, Dinas Powys.

I would just like to thank the people who stopped during a busy rush hour to pick me up and take me home. Unfortunately this resulted in a stay in hospital. I did not obtain your names or addresses to enable me to thank you, but you know who you are. Thank you once again.

Jeff Webber, Dinas Powys.

Christmas wreaths helped Air Ambulance

ON behalf of the the Llancarfan Flower Arranging Group, I would like to give thanks to all who helped make, or who bought, our door wreaths this year.

We raised £1,115 making Christmas door wreaths in aid of Wales Children's Air Ambulance.

Our thanks also go to those who gave donations. Wales Children's Air Ambulance are very grateful for the tremendous sum raised.

Mary Grey.

Lost recycling bag returns home...

SOME weeks before Christmas, in the high winds, my new quarter recycling bag blew away.

In spite of looking everywhere I never found it, although it had the name of the house written on it. To get a new one was a longish process and it then had to be collected from Cowbridge library.

Today I came home to find it inside my gate. Thank you to whoever found it and returned it, I am really grateful.

Mrs EM Davies, Boverton.

'Voters thought otherwise' about campaign against Vale MP

IT was excellent to read the letter of support from Gareth Jones for Alun Cairns in last week's GEM.

Not for the first time of late have the media created a story on the basis of absolutely no credible evidence, designed to create as much embarrassment as possible, in this case to Mr Cairns, the PM and the Conservatives and to maximise the adverse consequences.

Not only did we lose a top Secretary of State for Wales we could have lost one of the country's and constituency's very best of MP's.

Fortunately the majority of voters thought otherwise. Added to this the undoubted distress caused to Mr Cairns and his family was appalling.

As for Tim Jefferson's musings based on his lengthy reliance on a Facebook quote, these merely reflect the extent of his chronic political naivety.

Peter Graham-Woollard

Thanks from Sightsavers

I WOULD like to take this opportunity to say thank you to all of the three million plus players of the People's Postcode Lottery in the UK.

Thanks to your support, People's Postcode Lottery has been able to provide over £500 million to good causes since 2005, which is just incredible. Over £3.9 million of this we have been grateful to receive at Sightsavers. Money raised by players has been indispensable in helping Sightsavers to fund vital, sight-saving work in some of the world's poorest countries.A cataract surgery can cost as little as £30 but it has a transformational effect. So once again, a big thank you to all the players in Wales for your support.

Dr Caroline Harper CBE, Sightsavers CEO.

Scheme to build 500 council houses underway

THE Vale of Glamorgan Council has begun an ambitious programme of work to increase affordable housing provision that will see more than 500 council properties built over the next five years.

As part of a broader initiative to meet demand, further affordable homes are being delivered in conjunction with housing associations or as part of market developments.

Two sites are already under construction: Brecon Court in Barry is a 28-property project consisting of both accommodation for older persons and family homes, while Holm View consists of 11 bungalows specially designed to meet the needs of families with a disabled adult or child.

Since the start of the financial year, 177 affordable homes have been built in the Vale: a mix of social rented homes, available to rent at less than market level, and low-cost homes which can be purchased by first-time buyers at 70 per cent of the market price.

Of these, 74 have been delivered by housing association partners, including 22 'adapted' homes for people with mobility restrictions.

The remaining 103 have been delivered by market developers as a condition of planning permission.

Cllr Margaret Wilkinson, Cabinet Member for Housing and Building Services said: "Affordable housing accounts for an average of 30 per cent of new developments, while our house building programme will see 500 council homes built in the next five years. The social housing we and our partners are providing consist of modern, comfortable living spaces, some specially designed to cater for those with mobility difficulties.

"Working together, the council, our partnered housing associations and the development industry are trying to maximise the level of affordable housing to provide safe and secure homes for people who need them. With house prices continuing to rise, getting on the property ladder remains a difficult challenge for many so it's important we also take steps to address this issue."

Gavin & Stacey clapperboard auctioned off in aid of charity

ABOVE: The piece of memorabilia which sold for £8,100.

A CLAPPERBOARD signed by the cast of Gavin & Stacey has sold for more than £8,000 – with the cash going straight to charity.

Stars of the hit Barry-based sitcom, which returned to TV screens at Christmas after nearly a decade, signed the piece of filming equipment used during filming.

The clapperboard, bearing signatures from the likes of Ruth Jones, James Corden, Rob Byron, Larry Lamb, Mathew Horne and Alison Steadman, was put on eBay in a bid to drum up money for Tŷ Hafan children's hospice.

Nearly 75 people lodged bids for the memorabilia with one lucky person picking it up for £8,100 when the auction ended on New Year's Eve.

The clapperboard, which was endorsed by Ruth Jones, was sold to raise money for the charity's £1.5m refurbishment project.

And the fundraising didn't stop there.

Ruth appeared on ITV's quiz show Who Wants to Be a Millionaire? on Sunday evening to raise money for the charity.

She told the show's host, Jeremy Clarkson, that she was "abysmal" at quiz shows and would be happy to just get four questions right.

But the former Porthcawl Comprehensive student ended up walking away with £16,000 after getting stumped on a question about James Bond.

A spokesman for Tŷ Hafan tweeted after the show aired: 'WOW, £16K! What a start to 2020 for Tŷ Hafan. Thank you so much, Ruth.'

A Christmas guest who has stayed on…

SOME Christmas guests turn up and are so comfortable that they decide to stay on into the New Year and beyond.

That's the case for local photographer Mike Wilcock, who first noticed this visitor in his garden over Christmas.

Mike told The GEM: "Our new guest must have enjoyed our garden because since then, every morning at 11am, he has been back, as regular as clockwork."

Busy time for Ukelastic

A FULL programme of engagements over the Christmas period kept the Vale Ukelastic band busy: from playing at the turning on of Llantwit's Christmas lights to fundraising for the Alzheimer's Society at the Filco supermarket, when over £300 was collected.

Throughout December the band supplied musical entertainment for the Town Twinning Association fundraiser, the Llantwit Major WI's Christmas dinner and for the Llantwit Stroke Group. Over the past year the band has performed at some 30 venues and has raised a considerable amount for the Vale Foodbank and other charities.

The spokesperson continued: "It seemed clear from the views expressed, at this meeting, at drop in sessions and informally, by councillors, governors, parents and the wider community that, whilst there is support for increasing the provision for English medium primary education in Cowbridge, there is no support for the creation of a 3-19 school and for siting the new primary school on the Cowbridge Comprehensive School site.

"Concerns have also been expressed about the timing of this consultation with the period covering the Christmas and New Year holiday.

"It is the view of Cowbridge with Llanblethian Town Council that the consultation document should be withdrawn and a new consultation launched which objectively examines all the possible options for providing the additional places.

"The deadline for submitting responses is Friday, January 10. It is important that the Vale Council receives as many individual responses as possible. If you haven't submitted your comments please think about doing so now."

The Consultation document together with instructions for responding is available via: www.valeofglamorgan.gov.uk/cowbridgeschools

Company encourages youngsters to walk to school

TO help pupils walk to and from school safely during the darker months, Taylor Wimpey South Wales has donated 100 high visibility snap bands to pupils at Ysgol Iolo Morganwg in Cowbridge.

According to research by Living Streets, less than half of all school children are currently walking to school, a drop from 70% a generation ago.

The research also found that children who exercise before school arrive refreshed and ready to learn.

Commenting on the donation, Sara Rees, Headteacher said: "It's really important to us that our pupils are happy and engaged when they arrive at school and walking is a great way for them to start the day. The high visibility snap bands donated by Taylor Wimpey will help them to do this more safely."

Sara Taylor of Taylor Wimpey south Wales, said: "We are proud to have donated 100 snap bands to pupils at Ysgol Iolo Morganwg. We hope that the snap bands will help to encourage pupils to lead a healthy lifestyle, while staying safe on their walk to school."

Community news from Llangan and Treoes with Nancy

Llangan Primary School

After a busy final term, the children of Llangan Primary School put on an amazing show entitled 'The Grinch'.

They acted with great enthusiasm and sang brilliantly. The new term began on January 6.

Saron Chapel, Treoes

The Christmas Eve Service at Saron was an outstanding success with local residents and visitors from surrounding villages.

The Service was conducted by the Rev Nicola Thomas Black. The congregation enjoyed the ever-popular Christmas carols with music provided by the chapel organist and a vocal group. I was very impressed by one young singer aged, I believe, about 12.

New Year, New You with Valeways!

WANT to feel better, have more energy and have fun? Then join our walking group at Cosmeston Country Park, Penarth.

Exercise has many benefits including burning calories and can prevent and manage health problems. But everyone knows that! So make time this new decade to exercise more and feel some of the benefits.

The group managed to keep their boots relatively clean for the first walk of 2020, despite the previous weeks of rain turning many paths to muddy puddles. No promises about clean boots for this year, but in two years the group has only experienced a light rain shower.

February's walk is a change from the normal plan: it's the second Thursday of the month, then back to the first Thursday for March and the rest of the year. Hope you can join us.

Lynne Frugtniet, Valeways Walk Leader

New Year's Day hunt in Cowbridge

TWO of Cowbridge's annual traditions are the start of the Boxing Day and New Year's Day hunts, where locals turn out in significant numbers to take in the sights and sounds while the riders enjoy a stirrup cup drink before riding out of the town.

This year, local photographer Glyn Evans came along on New Year's Day to capture these images of the event.

It's the moment when the market town that is Cowbridge reminds its residents of its rural history.

The future of the livestock market may be uncertain, but the town remains rooted in the heart of the countryside.

A time for reminiscing at fellowship meeting

THIS month's meeting was all about reminiscences of the past.

A spokesman said: "We all joined in and had a really good laugh about remembered events and experiences in our youth. Inevitably, school reminiscences were dominant.

"School uniforms, PE kit, teachers and the disasters at some school events provided us with a host of funny stories from around the room – including recounting many of our misdemeanours that resulted in us being awarded detention!

"The hilarious conversations continued as we all enjoyed a 'Bring and Share' supper together. "We all left happily confident that the evening provided us with a foretaste of fellowship group fun to come in 2020.

"We have lots of interesting speakers, events and activities planned for 2020 so why not come along and join us?

"We meet in the church hall, Llanblethian at 7.30pm on the first Thursday of the month."

MP Alun Cairns talks about the New Year's Honours List, the recent election and looks back on the last decade in his monthly column for The GEM

HAPPY New Year to everyone.

As the new year dawned, it was a delight to see that so many of the Vale's finest have been recognised in the Queen's New Year Honours. I pay tribute to the recipients in the Vale - George Evans BEM, Pat Finch BEM, Sharon Lovell MBE, Graham Colin Budd MBE, Christopher Brereton OBE and Andrew RT Davies CBE.

These demonstrate the best of voluntary and professional commitment to the community and to our country.

I remember visiting George Evans at his table tennis club in Barry when I was first elected to Parliament, over 9 years ago. He has coached and mentored hundreds of young people in table tennis. The hall was electric with the tapping of balls on tables and bats. I remember thinking that George would be incredibly deserving of such an Honour for all he has done for the sport and our community. I am delighted that this has come to fruition.

It has also been a privilege to support Barry Beavers disabled swimming club and to see the leading role Pat Finch has played over many years. Pat has provided so many people who live with disabilities the confidence and opportunity to get involved in competitive swimming. Her role in raising funds, organising galas has made a difference to the lives of many.

Although Russell Goodway is a Cardiff Councillor, he lives in Barry. He has played a major part in the redevelopment of the City, something that we all enjoy. A well deserved OBE for helping make Cardiff a leading European City.

Sharon Lovell, an equal rights campaigner from Barry, has been recognised with an MBE for services to children and young people. Sharon serves as the National Executive Director of NYAS (National Youth Advocacy Service) and is a vice chairwoman for Amnesty International UK. The importance of her role should not be understated.

Graham Budd, from Rhoose, received an MBE for his services to community policing in Cardiff as a Detective Constable in the South Wales Police force. I know former South Wales Police colleagues of Graham's who have said that his award is long overdue and commented that he was one of the best officers they had worked with.

Christopher Brereton, Chief Environmental Health Officer in the Welsh Government, was awarded an OBE for services to environmental and public health in Wales. As I have seen during my time in office, civil servants play an incredibly important role in crafting government policy and I welcome the news that Christopher has been recognised for his contribution.

Finally, I am very pleased that my colleague Andrew RT Davies has received a CBE for the significant role that he has had in Welsh politics. He is one of our big characters and served as a strong Leader of the Official Opposition in the Assembly. This is a senior honour that recognises his influence not only locally but across Wales and beyond.

Following last month's General Election, I would like to thank everyone in the Vale of Glamorgan for restating their confidence in the Conservative Party and in me to deliver on our country's priorities. I am privileged and humbled to have gained the highest Conservative vote in Wales and for exceeding the previous record share of the vote that the late Sir Raymond Gower gained in 1983.

If you voted for me, thank you and I will do all I can to live up to your hopes and expectations. If you did not, gaining your confidence will be my priority.

The Prime Minister recently stated: 'you are the masters and we are the servants.' Nothing could be more appropriate.

As we enter 2020, I feel a sense of renewed optimism for the Vale and for the country.

Over the last decade, we've benefitted from positive developments in the Vale, such investment by Aston Martin to establish a production plant in St Athan, regeneration in Barry and the extension of superfast broadband. I believe that we are in a great position to build on this and enjoy even more success in the decade ahead.

Across the country, the General Election resulted in an overwhelming win as people from different communities came together to endorse our plan to deliver on your priorities - like getting Brexit done, securing more investment for the NHS and putting more police officers on our streets. The South Wales force have already started the recruitment process and we will see more police on our streets in due course.

We are in a position to make a positive difference to people's lives. It's an opportunity we must grasp with both hands and I will be working tirelessly to ensure that communities in the Vale benefit from a forward-thinking and re-energised Conservative Government.

I look forward to working with you to achieve this over the next five years and if there are any matters that I can help you with, please be in touch.

I hope you all enjoy a happy, healthy and successful start to the new decade.

Wick YFC finish the year on a high note!

WICK YFC members saw the decade out in incredible form.

Securing nine firsts at the County Eisteddfod Finals to win the much-coveted Anne Thomas Memorial Trophy was just the start.

Hollie Jones led the way with the club's project promoting the award-winning Ty Tanglwyst Dairies, as well as a first for her news article and Welsh poem.

Club secretary Alisha Major took first place for her speech on mental health in farming, as well as firsts in both the photography and sentence competitions.

Rhianna Jones was hot on the girls' heels, gaining a thoroughly deserved first for her incredible artwork and finally new member Thomas Morgan, at only 10 years of age, gained two firsts in the limerick and film review competitions with his delightful review of Beatrix Potter's Peter Rabbit.

Rhianna was also second in the instrumental solo with Lucy Roberts placed fourth in the tightly-fought singing competition.

It was certainly a night to remember for the club who were ecstatic to bring the trophy back to Wick.

The County Quiz took place the next day and yielded another first for Alisha Major in the 'Decorate a Christmas Wreath' competition. Having made the most exquisite decorations by hand, the competitors were given one hour to make and decorate their wreath under the scrutiny of the judges, followed by a practical test of the decorations.

Alisha was elated with her win and went on to represent the county in the Wales finals at the Royal Welsh Winter Fair, gaining second place, pipped by only one point.

It was a super effort from Alisha, who has had a fantastic start to the YFC year and is thoroughly enjoying her role as club secretary.

Having enjoyed success at Stock Judging Day, Hollie Jones also represented the county at the Winter Fair, where she was the under-16 highest scorer in the 'Giving Reasons in Welsh' award.

Hollie is only 14 and was thrilled to be presented with her award by Wales chairman Katie Davies.

With hardly a moment to catch their breath, the girls were straight into the county public speaking finals in Ystradowen. Alisha Major was delighted to gain second place in the Junior Member of the Year competition.

Alisha, Hollie and Rhianna also competed in the junior speaking competition where Rhianna, at only 12 years of age, was chosen as a reserve for the county team for her Vote of Thanks, having performed to an exceptional standard.

With one final competition remaining as 2019 drew to a close, the girls were joined by Lucy Roberts in the under-21 Brains Trust where they debated three topics unbeknown to them until the debate began. Rhianna once again did a fantastic job as chair.

Katie Davies, the chairman of Wales YFC, congratulated them on a fantastic performance and said they were a very promising team for the future.

A club spokesperson said: "As a club we were absolutely delighted and must thank Mr David Bassett for taking time out of his trip from Canada to train us. Thanks also to the amazing organisation from Gwyneth Thomas, the county organiser, and her exceptional team whose efforts continue to be appreciated enormously.

"We are currently adding the finishing touches to our drama for the county finals at Porthcawl's Grand Pavilion, on January 31 and February 1. Please come along and support all seven clubs as we compete for the top spot to represent county at the Wales finals. It's a fantastic night of entertainment, a perfect occasion to fend off any January blues.

"As we look back on 2019 we feel blessed with the opportunities we have been given, with each and every member contributing to our recent successes. We look forward to joining our fellow clubs in 2020 and continuing the incredible YFC journey as part of what we think is the greatest youth organisation.

"To find out more about us please see our website on www.wickyfc.com or pop along on Tuesday evenings to Wick Village Hall at 7.30pm. We'd be delighted for you to join us. A Very Happy New Year from all at Wick YFC."

Airport blames Brexit for 'shocking' losses, claims AM

COMMENTING on the news that Cardiff Airport – owned by the Welsh Government since 2013 – has posted pre-tax losses that have nearly trebled in a year to £18.5 million, Russell George, the Welsh Conservative Shadow Minister for the Economy and Transport, said: "If this shocking loss doesn't prove that governments shouldn't own airports – even if operated at 'arm's length' – then I don't know what will."

In its financial statements and annual report for the year ending March 31, 2019 the airport declared a pre-tax loss of £18.5m – almost three times the pre-tax loss figure of £6.6m in the previous year's report.

According to Mr George, a spokesperson for Cardiff Airport reported that the loss was due to the collapse earlier this year of Thomas Cook, an increase in the cost of aviation fuel, and Brexit.

Mr George said: "That just doesn't add up. Trying to blame the UK leaving the European Union for these losses is deflecting to an extreme degree. The airport has been failing for years, and although passenger numbers are tending to rise they are still far below the high point of two million passengers in 2007.

"That's more than a decade to recover, and six years of state ownership; but still, it is posting sky-high losses. In 2012, the year before it was taken into state ownership, the airport made – by comparison – a modest loss of £1m. It's clear that state ownership has done nothing to help Cardiff Airport, but has damaged it. Even as recently as October, the Welsh Labour Government wrote another cheque, this time for £21m, to bail out the airport.

"This takes the loans issued to Cardiff Airport to more than £50 million, which is nearly as much as the cost of buying the airport back in March 2013.

"When will the Welsh Labour Government acknowledge that it cannot keep writing cheques for the airport, and cut its losses and save the taxpayer millions of pounds?"

Huw Lewis, chief financial officer at Cardiff Airport commented: "Our focus this financial year (2018-19) has been to build on the previous transformational year and further strengthen the financial position of the company. As a result we have seen a growth in revenue by over 34% due to improved commercial operations across the airport, notably increasing the departure lounge and retail, food and beverage offering, investing in our car park and car hire offerings.

"For the second year running we have returned a positive EBITDA (Earnings Before Interest, Tax, Depreciation and Amortisation) which is a measure of a company's operating performance and the key metric of which airports are valued globally. The EBITDA has increased by over £70,000 with continued growth forecast for this current financial year.

"During this period we have invested in our operations and prepared for taking over the operation of the St Athan airfield. We have increased our headcount by over 9% to meet the growing business demands and brought forward our commitment to pay at least the Real Living Wage to all Cardiff Airport employees.

"In light of the continuing volatility and uncertainty in the global economy and specifically the aviation industry including recent airline failures, we have reviewed the life over which we measure our intangible assets and taken the prudent decision to 'write down' the value of these assets. This has resulted in an exceptional charge of £9.3m which is reflected in our accounts for this financial year."

AM awarded CBE in New Year's Honours List

PAUL Davies AM has led the congratulations to Welsh Conservative politician Andrew RT Davies who received an award in the 2020 New Year's Honours List.

Mr Davies, the Leader of the Opposition in the Welsh Parliament, said that Andrew had been made a CBE in recognition of his political and public service over many years.

He said: "Andrew RT Davies AM has been an exceptional Assembly Member and has justifiably earned respect from politicians across the political divide in all parts of the United Kingdom. He was elected as Leader of the Welsh Conservatives in 2011, and served that role with distinction until 2018.

"A proud Welshman, Andrew always wants to make sure that Wales is represented at key events, and that his constituents are always dealt with efficiently, effectively and with great understanding. The then-Prime Minister, Theresa May, said that, 'Under Andrew's leadership, the Welsh Conservatives have provided a strong opposition to Labour in Cardiff Bay and a strong voice for the people of Wales, both at home and in Westminster'."

In addition to Andrew's political career he is a keen supporter of cancer charities, is an active member of the Parliamentary and Assembly rugby team which raises money and awareness for local charities and good causes.

He is also the president of the Young Farmers, is a life Governor of the Royal Welsh Agricultural Society, and a Welsh delegate on the Council for the National Farmers Union (NFU). He also serves as a councillor for the Rhoose ward on the Vale of Glamorgan Council.

Mr RT Davies said: "To have been included in The Queen's New Year honours list has come as a huge surprise and is very humbling. This is a fantastic honour and it wouldn't have been possible without the support of my wife, children, the fantastic members of staff and Conservative party activists who I've had the pleasure of working with since entering the Welsh Assembly in 2007.

"It's easily forgotten in the heat of today's political debate that families sacrifice a huge amount when a husband and father opts for a position in public life, and I'm particularly grateful for their unstinting and continuing love.

"I'm by no means done yet; and this award only inspires me to continue standing up for my constituents, promoting the important causes that are closest to me, and ensuring we deliver a better future for people and communities right across Wales."

Miners Pension Compensation

We are successfully claiming compensation for former Welsh miners who transferred out of the Mineworkers Pension Scheme.

Many Welsh miners were advised to transfer out of their British coal pension scheme to a private scheme which paid considerably less! This was bad advice and many retired miners or their widows have lost out.

OTHER WORKERS AFFECTED!

• British Rail • British Gas • Civil Service
• Local Government • Dockers • Armed Forces
• Private Companies • Electricity Board • Teachers

Example 1 - £62,000

Mrs N. worked for the LOCAL GOVERNMENT in CARDIFF. In 1991 she was persuaded by a sales agent of STANDARD LIFE to transfer her pension to them. When she retired she realised she was getting a much lower pension than her friends who stayed with the Government Pension. Compensation - £62,143.

Example 2 - £87,000

Mr G. from SWANSEA was in the ARMED FORCES. In 1989 he was persuaded by a sales agent of SCOTTISH AMICABLE (now the Prudential) to transfer his Army Pension to them. He was promised a better pension. His pension was actually much less than the Army Pension. Compensation £38,724.

In the 1980's and 90's many people were persuaded by sales agents to transfer OUT of their work pension on the promise of a better return, however this was not true.

If you know a coal miner or someone else this might apply to, please make them aware of this information.

Example 1 - £87,000

Mr C. from RISCA worked at CWM. After the pit closed in 1986 he was advised by an agent of the PRUDENTIAL to transfer out of the miners pension. When he retired he noticed his pension wasn't as much as his friends who stayed in the miners scheme. Compensation £87,649.

Example 2 - £48,000

Mr W. from PONTYPRIDD worked at MERTHYR VALE. After the pit closed in 1989 he was advised by an independent financial advisor to transfer his miners pension to SCOTTISH LIFE (now Royal London). Even though the financial advisors were no longer in business he received compensation of £48,000.

Example 3 - £103,000

Mr J. from CAERPHILLY worked at PENALTA. After the pit closed in 1991 he was advised by a sales agent of the PRUDENTIAL to transfer out of the miners pension. This was not good advice, he lost out as a result. Compensation - £103,759.

Example 4 - £112,000

Mr H. from PORTH worked at ABERCYNON. After the pit closed in 1988 he was advised by an agent of PEARL ASSURANCE (now Phoenix Life) to transfer his miners pension to them. He noticed his pension wasn't as much as his friends who stayed in the British Coal Scheme. Compensation - £112,638.

Youth project expands after police cash boost

A DIVERSIONARY youth project which has proved successful in reducing antisocial behaviour in Bridgend Town Centre is set to expand thanks to funding from the South Wales Police Youth Trust.

Roots, a subsidiary of Youth Works, already offers a weekly youth session in the town centre, which is funded by Bridgend County Borough Council.

But the facility is now able to offer a second night of activities, after the local Community Safety Partnership successfully applied to the Youth Trust for funding of £3,600.

Kelly Thomas, antisocial behaviour (ASB) officer for Bridgend, who was instrumental in securing the funding, said: "Bridgend Town Centre had seen a spike in youth-related antisocial behaviour in recent months.

"While we realise that ASB causes annoyance and distress to members of the public we also recognise that youth centres and youth facilities have been in decline in recent years, meaning young people have nothing to do.

"The subsequent boredom can lead to antisocial behaviour, and we wanted to provide a reprieve from ASB in the town centre while also providing the young members of the community with somewhere to go.

"Roots are thoroughly deserving of this funding, and I believe they will really help us to make a difference in the town. They are highly skilled in engaging young people and providing them with activities and events that they actually want to be part of.

"The funding will allow them to provide sessions on a Tuesday evening, in addition to the one already running on Wednesdays. The session will offer music workshops, recording and mixing techniques and provide young people with the chance to learn how to play the drums, keyboard and bass.

"The youth workers also offer circus skills, cooking skills, crafts and sports and exercise.

"These are free workshops and are aimed at engaging with local young people, providing them with a safe and secure place to hang out and socialise."

The sessions will run weekly, from 4pm to 6pm on Tuesdays, and from 5pm to 8pm on Wednesdays.

All local youths are welcome; the youth centre can be accessed via the building with the red door, next to the Zone on Dunraven Place, Bridgend.

Roots also offer youth provisions on Mondays - at Sarn Memorial Hall from 4pm-6pm, and at Pontycymmer Vetz from 6pm-9pm.

Mother's thanks to football coaching team

A MUM from Barry has thanked the three coaches who organise her son's football team, for their work in coaching the boys and in creating a great team spirit.

Joanne Linney told The GEM: "My son Sam plays for Island Marines Football Club under-13s.

"We have three marvellous and dedicated coaches: Dave Philips, Mark Frayne and Gav Price, and their sons Jack, Max and Sam, also play for the team.

"They give up so much of their time training twice a week, with matches on Saturday morning, and on arranging tournaments around Cardiff and even Ledbury. "They have organised fundraising activities, including bag packing in Tesco.

"They also have completed their coaching certificates as required by the FAW.

"They treat all the boys equally and ensure every player gets a game. The majority of players have been part of this team since they were four years old and have such a strong bond. They are a great team and friends on and off the pitch.

"Dave, Mark and Gav keep the team spirit alive."

Joanne continued: "Every Christmas our coaches organise a party for the boys which goes down very well. This year they played Zorb Football at Gol. It was a huge success and they absolutely loved it.

"I know that all the parents want to let our coaches know how much they are appreciated."

An evil queen at Llancarfan – Oh no there isn't!

DURING the last week of term, pupils at Llancarfan Primary School performed two wonderfully polished Christmas plays for their family and friends.

Children in foundation told the traditional nativity story to a packed hall of proud parents and grandparents, enchanting everyone with their acting and singing.

The junior children put on a spectacular and not so traditional production of Snow White and The Seven Dwarves; and in true Christmas pantomime style there was lots of booing and hissing at the evil queen and plenty of laughs and audience participation throughout.

The children worked extremely hard – they narrated clearly, acted their hearts out and sang beautifully!

The sheer volume of lines and songs that they learned and performed so confidently was extremely impressive and we are very proud of them all. Watch out Broadway, here come Llancarfan!

Local man's book will 'shatter stigmas' faced by fathers

A MAN from Ogmore Vale who has been campaigning to improve men's mental health has just co-written his second book.

Mark Williams used his own experiences as a starting point, recalling that he found dealing with fatherhood led to mental health issues.

Determined to raise the profile of a condition that was, he felt, in many cases ignored, he started his campaign and wrote his first book.

In recent years, he has been collaborating with Dr Jane Hanley and the book, entitled 'Fathers and Perinatal mental Health' is the result.

Mark left school at 15, and suffered years of low self-esteem. In 2004, he experienced depression and "suffered in silence" for years until he entered community mental health services, where he was diagnosed with ADHD and dyslexia.

He founded 'International Fathers' Mental Health Day' and the #Howareyoudad campaign to make sure all parents are having support for the whole family.

Mark has spoken on television and radio stations around the world while working with Dr Jane Hanley, and they have published articles together.

Mark was awarded 'Inspirational Father of the Year' and 'Local Hero' at the Pride of Britain Awards in 2012.

He was invited to meet The Royal Family on World Mental Health Day and was also awarded the 'Point Of Light' award by the Prime Minister in 2019.

Mark told The GEM: "It is only in recent years that there has been development in the awareness of the father's mental health.

"Yet, his mental health can influence the mother, the infant, the family and society. This book seeks to address the reasons why the father, or the potential father, could suffer from a mental disorder or illness during the perinatal period, his reactions, and what can be done to help him."

The book explores the way in which fathers' mental health has presented in the past and how it presents now. It looks at the father's attitudes towards his mental well-being and how he may self-manage and self-medicate.

Treatment options and types of medication are discussed as are the ways in which the father can access the best possible help and support. Stories from fathers who have suffered from a particular mental illness or condition help others to understand both the practicalities and realities.

Dr Andrew Mayers, perinatal mental health expert at Bournemouth University, said of the book: "This exceptional book by Mark Williams and Dr Jane Hanley is likely to quickly become the go-to resource for fathers' mental health.

"Written expertly and sensitively, it covers everything we need to know about diagnoses and conditions, the impact on the whole family, infant bonding and interaction, and crucial information on treatment and management.

"This book will shatter the stigma that fathers face and help make it more likely that they will come forward to get the support they need."

Charity's thanks to generous donors

AGE Connects Cardiff & the Vale is coming together with almost 600 charities to thank supporters who donated through the UK's biggest match funding campaign, The Big Give's Christmas Challenge 2019.

Age Connects raised £6,201 to support lonely and vulnerable older people in the local community in just seven days.

Spokesperson Karen Steele said: "We are so grateful for the support shown to our charity. It makes such an almighty difference to us and those vulnerable older people in the communities we support. These contributions will enable us to continue to deliver services such as befriending, advocacy or welfare rights advice."

The Big Give's campaign generated over £15 million in funding for good causes across the country, matching donations pound for pound until the funding pot was empty.

Matched funding was provided by over 20 funding champions, including Reed Foundation, The Childhood Trust, Four Acre Trust and the National Lottery Heritage Fund, with charities raising additional match funding through their own network of philanthropists.

Entrepreneur and philanthropist Sir Alec Reed CBE, founder of The Big Give, said: "The public's generosity to this year's Christmas Challenge has been phenomenal. Match funding has proved yet again to be an incredibly powerful incentive to give."

Dog of the Week

MILO is a four-year-old Labrador cross collie who has boundless energy and is looking for owners who can offer him lots of physical and mental stimulation.

He is so much fun!

Milo is a very bright dog and is eager to learn new things, so training classes would be beneficial. He will need to continue with his doggie socialisation so he can become more confident around them and enjoy their company. Milo is looking for a home where owners either work from home or are around during the day, as he loves to have human company. Milo can live with children 14 years and above.

Training and behaviour advisor Rachel Taunton says: "Milo is a very spirited lad and has tons of personality. If you are looking for a dog to go on long walks with and will enjoy training, then Milo could be your walking companion."

For more information on Milo, visit the Dogs Trust Rehoming Centre in Bridgend, CF31 4NG; or give us call on 01656 725219. You can also visit our website at www.dogstrust.org.uk.

Campaign goes on to help give a better life in Africa

THE most recent concert in aid of the charity Vale for Africa was when Barry Brass Band hosted a concert at Holy Trinity Church, where £500 was raised.

The cash will be used to bring clean piped water to a remote school in Uganda.

The charity supported eight optometrists and a doctor who flew to Uganda on August 24 for a six-day visit.

They were able to examine 1,116 patients in the week. Of these, 127 were referred for cataract surgery, meaning their eyesight will be restored.

A total of 461 pairs of reading glasses were dispensed and a further 235 pairs of prescription glasses were distributed. Mr Ted Arbuthnot, a Barry optometrist, a regular volunteer and spokesman for the charity said he was immensely proud of the team's achievements and was hopeful further funding could be secured to take another team to Uganda next year.

The team all pay for their own flights so money raised goes directly to those in need of medical intervention.

Barry resident Godfey knight said: "I have been campaigning to have a small voluntary supplement added to council tax, but only for those who have sympathy and empathy for the plight of thousands of children in the developing world who would benefit greatly from a simple inoculation against so many treatable but fatal diseases.

"Just imagine what a portion of that additional supplement could do to help charities such as Vale for Africa.

"Just because we can't see what is happening in Uganda and other areas in the developing world doesn't have to mean out of sight is out of mind; our loose change can mean the difference to them.

"To make a donation to Vale for Africa please contact Gareth Kiddle (gareth@gka.org.uk) the chair for Vale for Africa."

Veterans urged to make recovery resolution

AT a time of year when many of us contemplate making changes in our lives, veterans and military personnel who are wounded, injured or sick are being encouraged to take the first step on their recovery journey by finding out what's on offer in Wales from Armed Forces charity Help for Heroes.

The Community Recovery team delivers a range of holistic support including one-to-one advice, fellowship networks, sports recovery and a clinical liaison nurse, who work together to empower eligible men and women across Wales to live lives with purpose following illness or injury as a result of their service.

Recovery manager for Wales and Hereford, Shelley Elgin said: "Our skilled staff are experts in the field of recovery. Some of them are veterans themselves, or have family who have served, so they know the challenges which can face men and women who may find the transition into civilian life difficult."

"We know that the new year can be a difficult time for many of those we support," says Shelley, "so we would encourage anyone who feels they would like to start their recovery journey to get in touch with our team."

To find out more about the events and activities taking place across Wales go to: www.helpforheroes.org.uk/get-support/how-to-access-our-services/recovery-in-wales/.

Charity's appeal for unwanted gifts

THE festive season is one of the most generous times of the year, but the British Heart Foundation (BHF) is appealing to those left disappointed by Santa's offerings to donate unwanted gifts to them, to help beat the heartbreak caused by heart and circulatory diseases.

"We love the gifts you don't!" said Allison Swaine-Hughes of the British Heart Foundation.

"We welcome everything, from good quality clothes, shoes, handbags and jewellery to DVDs, CDs, books and children's toys. Electrical items can also be donated to one of our 180 furniture and electrical stores, so think of us when re-gifting that blender or coffee machine.

"If you want to donate a gift or cut down the clutter after the festive season, then just drop your donations in at your local BHF shop or take advantage of our free collection service. Your quality items will be saved from landfill and help us raise funds for research into heart and circulatory diseases."

If you've had an upgrade, the BHF can also take old speakers, clothes or anything that's been replaced by Christmas gifts. Last year alone, the BHF saved over 74,000 tonnes of items from landfill, which helped prevent 53,000 tonnes of carbon dioxide emissions from being released into the atmosphere. This included 15,000 tonnes of pre-loved clothes and an incredible 180,000 sofas.

Swimmers out in force to support children's hospice

FOR the 36th year running, thousands of people blew out the cobwebs of 2019 by joining the New Year's Day Dip at Barry Island.

With temperatures at just seven degrees, over 2,000 people gathered to take a dip in the sea to raise funds for life-limited children and their families, cared for by Tŷ Hafan.

The town's Whitmore Bay was also packed with the hundreds of spectators who came down to watch hardy souls in fancy dress run into the water.

For the second year Tŷ Hafan took on the event, having been handed the reins by Barry man and lifeguard, Rob Salter, who founded the event 36 years ago.

The event has since grown in fame and popularity and now thousands of people brave the waters on January 1 and comply with the usual 'rules' – run in, dunk three times and run out, then repeat two more times!

Event manager, Jodie Harris, said: "We feel so privileged to be able to run this fantastic event for the second year.

"This is up there as one of the biggest dips we've seen, having reached our 2,000 registration capacity the day before the event."

Before jumping in the water, dippers took part in a warm up provided by Barry-based Cardio Core Fitness, and were watched over by the Whitmore Bay Lifeguards, who were on hand to provide first aid.

Jodie added: "It was wonderful to see so many people jump into 2020 with the Barry Island Dip.

"It costs over £4.4million each year to run our hospice, providing round the clock specialist care 365 days a year and to deliver our broad community programmes.

"We simply couldn't provide our lifeline services without the kindness and generosity of people like those taking part in the dip. We are hugely grateful to them".

Fitness guru's top tips for a sustainable eating regime for a New Year

FITNESS guru Joe Wicks talks to Liz Connor about why so many New Year diets fail - and how we can create a healthy new mindset in 2020 instead.

January usually happens like clockwork: a slew of new self-help books, articles and slimming blogs encourage you to 'be your best self', often by adopting a radical new diet that promises to blitz those spare inches around your waist for good.

The problem is, many crash diets encourage periods of miserable fasting and cutting out sometimes entire good groups overnight, and demonise food to the point where you're relationship with eating can be under threat.

According to fitness guru Joe Wicks - who has successfully helped thousands of people to lose weight - staying on these restrictive diets for a long period of time is often unrealistic and unhealthy.

Even if you do lose weight initially, it's not unusual to gain it again (plus even more, in some cases) before the spring comes around.

Thankfully, attitudes around diet culture are changing. A new survey commissioned by recipe box company Gousto (gousto.co.uk) has found that 68 per cent of UK adults believe the one-size-fits-all model just doesn't work.

So, how can you shed those excess pounds in a safe and effective way? We asked Wicks to give us some quick tips...

Why should people avoid restrictive diets in January?

"It's the time of year now where everyone wants to make changes to their life, whether that's with exercise or food, but the last thing you want to do - especially if you're someone who really loves food - is to go on a low-calorie diet," says Wicks, 33.

"Sure, it will work in the short-term and you'll probably lose weight on the scales, but emotionally it's going to absolutely ruin you. You're going to be so exhausted, you won't enjoy it and it's not going to be a sustainable approach.

"Try to think about a long-term vision, as opposed to a quick crash diet. Incorporate it with exercise and cooking with fresh ingredients at home; you're much more likely to succeed throughout the year."

Why do people fail at New Year's diets?

"Because they're awful, aren't they? Dieting is normally all about how little you can eat and how much exercise you can do. When you combine those two things, it affects your sleep, your mood and your energy levels.

"If I could give you one tip, it's to focus on getting yourself moving instead. I always tell people to start with 15-20 minutes a day of exercise at home; this will get your energy levels up and your self-esteem boosted. Exercising is going to have a massive effect on your food choices and your ability to go into the kitchen and cook yourself something healthy.

"Trying to do everything all at once is a bit much," he adds. "Focus on fitness first, and the rest will hopefully follow."

What other tips do you have for those looking to lose weight this year?

"Have a look at your portion control. I'm not saying to count calories, but to keep your plate to a healthy size. The good thing about exercise is that it elevates your mental health and your mood so much that you don't want to go and put junk food in your body afterwards.

"Meal prepping is one of the best things you can do too. If you leave the house without food, you're going to grab options on-the-go, which will likely be unhealthy convenience food.

"That's fine to do once or twice a week, but if you're doing it a lot, you're never going to truly know exactly how much you're consuming. The simple act of making some overnight oats for breakfast, or a salad for lunch can make a huge difference over time when it comes to staying lean."

What are you favourite ingredients for healthy eating?

"I really think it's great to have chopped tomatoes, coconut milk, curry powder, spices and tins of lentils, pulses, grains and beans in your cupboard. With these key ingredients, you can make really amazing veggie curries, or you could throw some chicken in there for some extra protein. Rice is also a great staple for making quick stir-fries after work.

"There's no magic fat-loss food; it's all about getting a good balance of everything and getting lots of fruits and veg in your diet.

"It's good to be a bit intuitive with it - ask yourself what foods make you feel energised and healthy? Don't think you have to jump onto a certain diet because everyone else is doing it."

Do you follow a flexitarian diet yourself?

"Yes. I eat a lot of veggie meals and with Gousto, I get four recipe boxes delivered per week that I can make at home. Three of those will be vegetarian and one will be meat-based.

"That's a massive step for me. During the process of researching and writing my veggie cookbook, Veggie Lean in 15 (£16.99, Pan Macmillan), I realised that you can get really amazing food as a vegetarian. I'm still not fully committed to going hardcore vegan though."

Many people feel like they don't have time to cook healthily, do you think that's untrue?

"I really think you have to remove that time barrier from your mind. We know full well that we can smash a Netflix series in a couple of days or watch our soaps, so we can all find half an hour to exercise or cook well - if we prioritise it.

"It doesn't need to be hours in the kitchen either. My whole philosophy with my Lean in 15 series is that you can make a really healthy and nutritious meal in just 15 minutes, and have some leftover for lunch the next day.

"It's that kind of mentality of prepping in advanced and being organised that works in the long-run."

2020 Vision
As seen through the eyes of Team F+R

THIS coming year Bobs, Bangs, Bows and Bands are reignited.

Bobs that are sleek, smooth and textured, cheek length, jaw length and shoulder length, they will all adorn our High Street, and who doesn't love a bob: we're certainly proud of our Bob creations!

Bangs (commonly know as 'fringes' this side of the Pond) that are short and choppy, long and sleek, parted and feathered will add interest and a trendy finish to any given style - from long tresses to pixie crops, we have just the bang for you.

And Bows and Bands will continue to dress up any hairdo, the low sleek pony tail tied in a ribbon of black leather, silk or satin, to the decorative, statement head bands that can add instant glamour and style. We can add any array of colour to your new style too, as all our colour services are half price when booked with your new haircut throughout January.

Come and visit us in salon for a coffee and consultation, and let's design your latest look together at Fich and Ramous, designer hairdressing with a super service. Start the New Year with a Bang! Happy 2020!

Generous Sony workers go above and beyond for charity

STAFF at Sony UK Technology Centre (UK TEC) donated over 100 gifts for three local charities in the lead up to Christmas.

Staff at the Pencoed facility collected for Bridgend Foster Care, Calan DVS – a charity in Bridgend that supports women and children affected by domestic abuse, and Llamau, who work to eradicate homelessness for young people and vulnerable women in Wales.

As well as the gift collection, staff at Sony UK TEC have had a busy few months raising a total of £1,169 between the Pink Ribbon Foundation, Bobath Wales and the Movember Foundation.

The run up to Christmas had staff taking part in a bake sale, two 'Wear It Pink' days and ribbon sales in aid of Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

The Sony team raised £477 in total for the Pink Ribbon Foundation, £160 for Bobath Wales and £532 for the Movember Foundation.

Bex Stones, from Calan DVS, said: "The gifts that have been so generously donated will make such a huge difference to our parents who are fleeing domestic abuse. Most of them have been financially controlled and isolated from family and friends so they have no money and nobody to turn to.

"We also have children come who want to give gifts to their mothers so it's really special that we can help them to do that."

Angharad Howe, from Llamau, added: "We are so thankful to Sony for their generosity. We depend on donations and fundraising for our women and this really will brighten Christmas for them."

Gerald Kelly of Sony said: "We are so proud of the effort put in by our team in aid of such fantastic charities. We wanted to make sure that the most vulnerable people within our community received a little festive cheer and we were delighted to see the whole facility get involved in this initiative."

Prepare your garden for harsh weather

THE UK hasn't experienced a big freeze so far this year, however weather experts are predicting harsh months ahead, so it's important to prepare, and that includes keeping your garden in check.

Experts at Housesimple, the online estate agent, have shared five simple steps on how everyone - even the less experienced gardeners among us - can prepare and maintain our gardens this winter.

Protection, protection, protection

During winter, it is vital to weatherproof your garden: by potting vulnerable plants and taking them indoors, storing them in your shed or wrapping them in bubble wrap, you can help protect them and their roots against frost and keep them safe. Adding a twine or a support system can protect your plants and small trees against the wind while putting garden furniture into storage or covering them with plastic will also ensure that they aren't damaged during harsh conditions.

Choose your plants wisely

Choosing the right plant is key, and plants like tulips and daffodils will only flower in the spring. However, plants like heather and pansies do well all year round. Edible plants such as cabbage, watercress, beetroot, and other hearty specimens are perfect to grow through winter months as well.

Look after your soil

If you are green-fingered, you know that the winter months can be damaging to your soil. Having raised flower and plant beds can provide you with maximum space and more control during the winter months. Checking your soil's pH levels is crucial, especially if you're a regular compost user. Compost gradually increases the acidity of your soil and can throw your levels off, so adding lime in the winter might be recommended. Using mulch can also help keep your soil warm and moist by acting as an insulator for your plants.

Keep things clear

During the autumn and winter months, there is a lot of fallen leaves and garden debris. By regularly cleaning pathways and garden spaces, you can keep areas clean and accessible. However, don't bin these, leaf matter can be composted and used on the soil once spring arrives.

Look after the wildlife

Everybody's garden is a mini eco-system and it is important to look after and support this, especially during the colder months. Leave out feeders for birds and ensure that they have birdbaths available, and make sure that ponds and water features aren't frozen over - you'd be surprised at how many animals will use them as water supplies. If you have a bonfire or fireworks display, make sure that there aren't any animals hibernating nearby.

Sam Mitchell, CEO at Housesimple, adds: "It's important that even during the winter months, gardens are maintained. We still find that house buyers are scoping out properties during the colder periods - and a messy garden can be a real put off.

"There is no guarantee that your garden will be beautiful all year round, and it can be time-consuming, but you can keep it alive and looking good with a little bit of prep. Investing in your garden can raise your property's value by an average of £2,500 so why not cash in on your property's hidden value."

Hotel chain is giving youngsters chance to become a published author

PREMIER Inn is launching the UK's first-ever 'wake up-time' story book for children, inspiring children to start the day in the best way possible; and is looking for young people in Wales to take part.

The hotel company is searching for young UK literary talent to help it publish a children's short story book packed with original tales. It hopes the challenge will be an ideal activity for young people this New Year. Part of the book will be dedicated to bedtime stories, while – uniquely – the other part will be stories designed to be read in the morning – to inspire young people to get their day off to the best possible start.

The budget hotel chain is encouraging children and young people 15 and under to submit an original 500-word short story; either round the theme of relaxation or inspiration. Young people are invited to let their imaginations run riot – and stories can be inspired by their own real-life experiences or something from the depths of their imaginations.

The hotel company will publish a diverse collection of tales, so stories revolving around friendship, families, animals or even science fiction are all welcome, providing they slot into the themes above.

The competition will run through to early 2020. Premier Inn experts and an esteemed panel of judges will crown national prize-winners in two categories: under 10s and ages 11-15. In addition, there will be 12 regional runners-up, celebrating literary brilliance across the UK.

To launch the nationwide competition in the lead up to Christmas, children being cared for at Great Ormond Street Hospital (GOSH) were treated to story readings by Father Christmas and his festive elves. Premier Inn is a longstanding supporter of Great Ormond Street Hospital Children's Charity (GOSH Charity) and the winning stories will be available for a donation, with all proceeds donated to GOSH, which treats children from all over the UK.

Simon Ewins of Premier Inn UK said: "We're all a huge fan of the traditional bedtime story and as a great night's sleep is also all about setting you up for the day ahead, we thought it would be a fun twist to launch the UK's first 'wake up-time' story collection. The UK is bursting with talented young people - we can't wait to start receiving the stories and we hope children in Wales really enjoy getting involved.".

Amit Aggarwal, of Great Ormond Street Hospital Children's Charity said: "It's brilliant that money raised through Premier Inn's short story writing competition will benefit children and young people treated at GOSH, as stories that dive into the imagination can be a useful distraction for patients at the hospital. We look forward to reading the fantastic entries to this competition."

The winning wordsmiths work will then be published and the prize also includes a two-night stay at a Premier Inn of the winner's choice. To submit a 500-word short story, and to check the deadline, young authors can email StoryPremierInn@golin.com.

AM welcomes £3billion funding for farmers

BELOW: Sajid Javid.

COMMENTING on the news that the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sajid Javid, has guaranteed just under £3 billion over two years for British farmers – including some £243 million for farmers in Wales – the Shadow Minister for the Environment in the Welsh Parliament, Andrew RT Davies said: "This commitment is a down payment on the Welsh Conservatives' Westminster manifesto pledge to guarantee funding for the farming community during the lifetime of this UK Parliament (2024)."

The money – to be spread over two years – will be used to support farmers when the UK leaves the European Union and the Common Agricultural Policy direct payments scheme next year.

It will allow funding for direct payments for 2020 to continue at the same level as this year, and supplement the remaining EU funding that farmers will receive for development projects until 2023.

Mr Davies continued: "It's now high time that the tired Welsh Labour Government in Cardiff Bay raised its game and started to deliver for the rural economy of Wales, something to date they and their little helpers Plaid and the Lib Dems have spectacularly failed to do for 20 years of devolution."

Mr Javid said: "When we leave the EU and are freed from the Common Agricultural Policy, we will be able to support our vital rural communities – who are a cornerstone of life in the UK – with a fairer and less bureaucratic system.

"Farmers can enter the new year with confidence that they have our backing and will be able to thrive after Brexit." Therese Villiers, Environment Secretary, added: "Outside the EU we will have a simpler, fairer funding system – one that rewards farmers for enhancing our environment and safeguarding our high animal welfare standards.

"We are committed to making sure our rural communities feel the benefits of Brexit and will ensure our farmers get a better deal."

How to get your own feel-good garden

GARDENING is well known to be good for body and soul – it keeps you physically active, and just being outdoors is a natural mood booster that also provides your body with doses of sunlight and vitamin D.

Creating your own health and wellbeing garden can be as easy as making a natural snug that can be a place in your existing outdoor space for meditation and mindfulness. Dotting focal points around the garden can also help contemplation – clumps of lavender, grasses swaying in the breeze or zen-like trees such as Japanese maples.

By making a few simple changes you can easily transform any garden into a relaxing space. Step one is to make sure that you have a quiet corner away from all of the hustle and bustle of everyday life where you can sit and simply enjoy the garden.

Try to avoid having straight paths and walls where possible as these can bring a feeling of regimentation to your space; instead use meandering paths, curved paving and foliage instead of fences which gives a more natural feel.

Make sure you have a variety of fragrant plants. Lavender is ideal as it attracts butterflies and bees – a joy to watch and good for pollinating your garden. Herbs such as mint, rosemary, thyme and sage are also a good choice. Even the smallest of outside spaces – a front garden or balcony – can accommodate a pot of herbs, which always smell strongest at dusk.

Research has shown that brightly coloured flowers are brilliant for lifting the mood so plant some vibrant reds, yellows and oranges as well as cooler whites and blues that are good for relaxation.

Finally, think about a water feature. If the constant trickle of a fountain doesn't work for you then something calmer such as a pond, or small container pond, is a great place to relax and reflect.

While planning your peaceful retreat, don't forget the rest of the garden this month. As the RHS says, January might be the middle of winter but as the days lengthen the garden starts to grow. Now is a great time to plan for the coming gardening year and to order seeds and plants. Enjoy the fresh air on dry sunny days and check your winter protection, stakes, ties and supports are still working after any severe weather.

Also put out food for birds and leave some garden areas uncut, a little longer, to provide shelter for wildlife in your garden. Jobs for this month should include:

Cleaning pots and greenhouses ready for spring; dispersing worm casts in lawns; planning your vegetable crop rotations for the coming season; putting out food and water for birds and digging over plots and beds that have not been dug already.

Cosmology corner for January, by Norman Lloyd

ORION (The Hunter), currently visible high in our southern mid-evening skies, is one of the most recognisable of the winter constellations, but just now, it is looking a little different.

The culprit is the distinctly orange star Betelgeuse which marks the constellation's western shoulder.

You may remember from a previous column that Betelgeuse is classed as a red giant star, an enormous stellar behemoth which is 12 times larger than our own Sun. If Betelgeuse were to replace our Sun, it would swallow up not only the four rocky inner planets Mercury, Venus, Earth and Mars, but quite likely Jupiter also!

A red giant is a star nearing its end of life and has entered the final stage of stellar evolution. Most of the stars in the Universe are 'main sequence stars' - those which convert hydrogen to helium at their cores by nuclear fusion (our Sun converts four million tons of hydrogen into helium every second!). Over a star's life, the outward pressure of fusion balances the inward pressure of gravity.

When the hydrogen at the core depletes, however, fusion stops, gravity triumphs and the star contracts. Temperature increases with the contraction until it becomes hot enough for a renewed fusion reaction at the core which converts the helium into carbon. Although there is no hydrogen left in the core, the accelerated rise in temperature from the helium fusion is sufficient to cause the shell of hydrogen surrounding the core to start fusion, producing more energy than when it was a main sequence star - and a consequent enormous expansion.

Because of its now larger size, the increased energy production is spread over a much greater area, and the surface of the expanded star is actually cooler giving the appearance of red heat as opposed to white heat. The red giant phase doesn't last too long on an astronomical scale, 'just' a billion years or so (a tenth of our Sun's lifetime). When the remaining hydrogen is all used up, stars the size of our Sun eventually shrink and become white dwarfs before finally fading into black dwarfs.

An exceptionally large star, however, becomes a red supergiant and destroys itself in a huge supernova explosion leaving behind a neutron star; or, for the largest of stars, a black hole. Betelgeuse falls into the red supergiant category and will one day go supernova and for several weeks or months, become visible in daytime and possibly outshine the moon at night.

So, what's different about Betelgeuse right now? Since late October this orange star has become noticeably dimmer. In astronomical terminology the star is 'fainting'.

Betelgeuse is, however, known to be a variable star whose brightness ups and downs have been tracked by both amateur and professional astronomers over many years. But it is dimmer now than at any other time in the past - causing speculation in some quarters that it could be about to pop. Other astronomers are urging caution, saying that it is unlikely to happen in the next 100,000 years - maybe not for another million years. No-one knows the reason for this exceptional fainting but it has been suggested that it could have been caused by some sort of eruption of dust or gas causing changes in its surface brightness.

What will happen when Betelgeuse does eventually explode? Although classed as being 'nearby' in relative terms, it is still some 400 to 600 light years distant from us, so apart from the visual pyrotechnics described above, there will be no other effects to cause concern here on Earth.

Bridgend Ramblers

FEELING the mid-winter blues? Need to compensate for overindulgence over the festive season? Fed up with Brexit? Can't stand the idea of a gym workout?

Fear not, help is at hand: why not try an enjoyable, friendly, non-competitive, social walk in the countryside with Bridgend Ramblers?

We've got a programme of varied walks with three each Sunday: nine miles every other Tuesday; five miles every other Wednesday and a gentle three to four mile stroll on alternative Thursdays. Our current programme through to the end of March includes coastal walks in Llantwit Major, Porthcawl and the Gower, countryside walks in the Garw Valley, Brecon Beacons and the Afan Valley and waterfall walks to Melincourt and Ystradfellte.

Plenty of variety to interest anyone wishing to experience the outdoor life and enjoy the many beauties of south Wales. We encourage new walkers to come along for three walks to ensure it's right for them, before asking them to join the Ramblers.

So have a look at our website: www.bridgendramblers.co.uk and see if anything catches your eye. Contact the leader as shown in the programme and just come along and give it a go.

Athletic Generals come out on top against Pyle

PYLE Seconds hosted Bridgend Athletic Generals in a friendly, with the home side keen to avenge their defeat at Newbridge Fields last season.

However, the Athletic again prevailed with a 31-17 victory.

As the first game after the Christmas break, it was evident the festive period had sapped the fluidity of the Athletic game. Both teams worked through phase play and the game was unfolding to be a close encounter.

Athletic were the first to regroup and managed to score with a well-worked try scored by Javan Bell, who raced 35 metres, by-passing several defenders to score the opener.

The scrum allowed Pyle to work some set piece moves and with a quick pass to the Pyle running centre, they were over for their first score under the posts which was duly converted by their prop.

A frustrated Athletic side did not want to go into the half time break behind on the score board. Some neat passing saw the Athletic gain 50 metres and eventually score through a Harry Harries try just before the half time whistle. Scott Jones converted.

The Generals started the second half with a very strong back to basics principle, running through the phases which opened up some space for Hywel Cosby to score in the corner within a minute of the restart, Scott Jones converted with a cracker of a kick from the touch line.

By this point the Generals were dominating possession and frustrating Pyle, but their defence was resilient. The Generals kept playing to their strengths and the patience was rewarded by another great phase of 'heads up' rugby which saw the ball passed through more than a dozen hands, with Harry Harries eventually crossing the Pyle try line.

Uncharacteristically, the Generals ill-discipline started to creep into the game, which allowed Pyle to capitalise and gain some much-needed territory. They kept the ball tight within the pack and were eventually rewarded with their second try of the game.

The Pyle try was a wake-up call for the Generals and they soon started working through the phases again!

Some consistent pressure on the Pyle line, looked surely to be rewarded with another Generals try, but some basic handling errors saw that opportunity lost and cleared by Pyle.

Within minutes, the Athletic were back in possession and attacking the Pyle 22. Moments later Javan Bell was in possession and crossed for his second of the day on the 78-minute mark

At this point the game was all but won by the Athletic Generals, but Pyle were not ready to throw in the towel and continued to pressurise the Athletic side and eventually scored a try before the final whistle.

The General's man of the match award went to Javan Bell for his outstanding attacking and defensive display, with recognition going to Josh Seldon and Ellis James for their tireless defensive efforts.

The Generals would also like to thank youth players Jack Obbard and George Tellem for joining the squad at the last moment and for their excellent displays on the field.

Bobbett is a cut above as Barry Vets run riot

IN their first match of 2020, Barry Vets over-55s were just too good for a sprightly Merthyr Tydfil and they secured an impressive 9–1 victory, including a fabulous foursome for evergreen Mike Bobbett.

The defence of their over-55s League crown is now very much back in their own hands.

Although missing a number of key players, Barry were still able to field a strong squad at Abercynon, so much so that they dominated the match, pretty much, from start to finish and in fact the scoreline could have been even more emphatic!

Merthyr are always a tough nut to crack but with Barry in this form, Merthyr's weaknesses were immediately exploited by the midfield of Huish, Price, Marshall and Dupuy, and full backs Staddon and Gibbins, whilst strikers Welsh and Bobbett terrorised their opponents. 'Jonah' Jones continued with his impressive scoring run, slotting home Dupuy's corner with aplomb.

Price scored shortly afterwards when he slammed home from close range after his header was parried. The visitors went three up when Bobbett took advantage of a defensive lapse to finish from a tight angle.

Barry stopper John Jones was a mere spectator, and apart from one defensive mix-up which allowed the home striker to score cheaply, this was a consummate back four performance from Gibbins, Jones, Averies and Staddon.

Merthyr's momentary chink of hope was crushed however, when Bobbett scored his second and then completed his hat-trick with an audacious lob, proving that when he's in this kind of mood he is almost unplayable.

Into the second half and Dupuy took centre stage, first supplying a superb cross, which was powerfully headed home by Welsh and then getting on the scoresheet himself with a delightful chip over the stranded keeper.

The pack was shuffled with Brown and Taylor entering the fray, but man-of-the-match Bobbett was relentless, scoring his fourth after robbing the opposition number 5.

But the best was still to come as Huish screamed a shot into the top corner from 25 yards to complete the rout and send out a clear warning to the other teams in the league.

Next week the over 50s travel to Cwmbran for a cup match against last years beaten finalists.

Ysgol Gwaun y Nant pupils spread seasonal cheer

OVER the festive period, pupils from Ysgol Gwaun y Nant have been bringing seasonal joy to the community by entertaining crowds with traditional carols.

The school choir took a break from lessons to visit Cardiff Airport, Tesco in Barry, as well as the Stroke Ward at Llandough Hospital.

Rhydian Lloyd, the headteacher, said: "We have been singing carols in the community for quite a few years. Pupils have always enjoyed the experience and people are always very appreciative.

"It was especially rewarding to be able to go to Llandough Hospital this year. I'm sure that the children brightened the day of many patients.

"In addition to this pupils decided to invite parents to school for an afternoon of carols and mince pies! The afternoon was organised by pupils - from writing the invites, preparing the programme and tickets, sourcing refreshments (which were kindly donated by Tesco) and serving tea and coffee.

"The pupils also decided that all proceeds should go to charity. It was a pleasure to be able to present cheques of £135 each to the RNLI, Llamau and Ty Dyfan."

Brynhill Ladies tried their hands at festive wreaths before Christmas

JO Kirkpatrick, the Ladies' Captain of Brynhill Golf Club welcomed Hilary West, of Hilary West Florists, Colcot Road, Barry and said that Brynhill was honoured to have Hilary at the club to demonstrate how to make a Christmas door swag.

All 25 ladies attending the evening made an excellent attempt at duplicating what Hilary had shown them. All very individual. Hilary was delighted with the efforts made by all the ladies.

The December 3 winter competition winner was Lynda Lloyd with 16 points.

Barry Chess Club at the New Year Chess Congress

THE start of every new year is marked on the first weekend by the New Year Chess Congress that has been held for many years in Bridgend.

There are as usual three sections to this tournament, and on this occasion the Barry Chess Club had a representative in each section. In the Open Section Dave Turner was our entrant.

Dave was ranked 16th out of the 32 entrants. After a tough match in round one when he lost to second seed Grzegorz Toczek things improved. With three wins from his remaining four games he finished in equal eighth place, only a point behind the eventual winner.

In the Major Section Ian Abraham was ranked 19th out of 28 players. Ian picked up a win, a draw and a half point bye to finish on two points from his five rounds of play. He finished in equal 19th place which is exactly where he should have been.

In the Minor Section Stephen Maguire was the Barry representative. There were only eight players in this section and Stephen was ranked eighth. He also finished with two points with two wins and three losses. Included among his wins was a victory against second seed Craig Thomas.

Stephen finished in equal fifth place, so it was a good competition for Stephen and some valuable ratings points will have been earned.

The Barry Chess Club meets at 7:30pm most Mondays (excluding Bank Holidays) at the West End Club, St Nicholas Road, Barry CF62 6QY. The club is open to players of all standards; whether you are interested in playing competitive chess or just the occasional friendly games.

New players are very welcome to just turn up on the night but it is better to contact one of the club members through the website first, so that we can arrange for someone to greet you on your arrival. For more details visit our website at barrychessclub.yolasite.com.

Bridgend Athletic RFC Mini and Junior games roundup

FIVE BARFC M&J teams were in action on the first Sunday in 2020.

Under-8: Bridgend Athletic under-8s took a squad of 19 players to Glynneath for their first game after the Christmas break.

The Ath were in fine form, running in tries for fun and completing numerous six tag turnovers. Great team effort by all the following players: Zavier Gardener, Riley Thomas, Charlie Tune, Osian Phillips, Callum Brown, Matthew Hallez, Sam Francis, Benjamin Westlake, Matthew Willcox, Isaac Rees, Joshua Owen, Jesse Sargent, Harry Tomkins, Evan Lewis, Harrison O'Brien, Ollie Davies, George Cowan, Tyler Pascoe and Ollie Dowson.

Next up for the under-8s is a trip to Pontrhydyfen.

Under-9: On January 5, the Ath under-9s travelled to Glynneath for their first fixture of 2020.

Having had a three-week break the Ath looked a little rusty; they quickly blew away the cobwebs however, and got back into their rhythm.

The home side proved stiff opposition and the under-9s had to put in a strong performance, particularly in defence. Three matches were played with the results displaying the even nature of the contest:

Match 1: Draw 2-2, Match 2: Loss 0-1, Match 3: Win 3-2

Under-11: The first game of 2020 saw the under-11s travel to Aberavon Green Stars.

The Ath started brilliantly with a quick try from the first kick-off for Charlie Richards. The first half saw another three tries from the Ath, with a powerful run from Oliver Williams, Charlie going over for his brace and Jackson with a solo run to go over for his first try of the day.

In the second half, Aberavon had a little success but the Ath were too strong in the forwards, and a little too cute for the opposition in the backs with some well-worked moves.

A great start to 2020. Try scorers Oliver Williams (3), Jackson Mutlow (3), Charlie Richards (2) and a well-deserved try towards the end for Rhys Punter. Final score: Aberavon 15 - 45 Ath.

Under-14: For the first game after Christmas the under-14s entertained Bryncoch for the first time on Newbridge fields. With the going heavy underfoot it was the Ath who started the game the better, winning turnover ball and putting Bryncoch under pressure. Off one of these pressure plays by Dan Honeyfield the ball was picked up by Matthew Davidson.

Matthew stepped inside a couple of players and drove over the line, under the posts. It wasn't long before the Ath scored their second try, with good interplay between Iolo John, Rhys Hockings and Sam Breeze, with Rhys giving the final pass for Sam to beat the final defender and run in unopposed, taking the half time score to 10–0 to the Ath.

Bryncoch started the second half on top, with their forwards making good inroads into the Ath defence. It wasn't long before their pressure turned into points with a couple of tries under the posts with one converted.

With the game in the balance and with both the Ath first choice centres off the pitch with injury, it was good Ath defence that kept Bryncoch out for the remainder of the game. Rhys Hockings still had to beat three defenders to run in the winning try and score under the posts, kicking the final conversion. The Ath won the game with a final score of 17–12.

Under-16: It was Nantyfyllon away for the under-16s and first game for over a month, so always going to be rusty. Surprisingly with terrible pitch conditions the overindulgence didn't turn out too badly. The Ath in fact probably tried to play to much open rugby with the conditions having the upper hand and uncharacteristic errors being made.

However, the Ath did get the first try with strong running from Jacob Perkins charging up the middle releasing the backs for Gus Patterson to go over and Evan Beach converting. Half time score 3-7.

In the second half the Ath won the kicking battle with Evan Beach keeping Nanty pinned in their own half. Unfortunately for the Ath, our line out wasn't operating as usual and failed to capitalise on chances. However, some quick thinking between Luke Griffiths and Jacob Perkins with a short throw in the lineout saw Perkins accelerate up the touchline to smash through the Nantyfyllon fullback. Final score 3–12.

Go dry this month to help your eyes

NOW the party season is over, it's time to put the brakes on the bingeing to make sure we look after our health.

With many people using the New Year as an opportunity to detox and go 'dry', Specsavers in Cowbridge explains why this is great news for our eyes and ears. We all know that alcohol can play havoc with our bodies and it's not just the hangovers we have to show for it, as dehydration can also cause symptoms of 'dry eye'.

Andrew Moss, store director, says: "When you lose more fluid than you take in, your body becomes dehydrated. Our eyes can become dry and irritated and we can even start to get slightly blurred vision because there are not enough tears to lubricate the eye.

"Tears are so important as they can wash away foreign matter that might come into contact with your eye, and they also help reduce the risk of eye infections. The best way to try and combat dry eyes is by rehydrating, by drinking plenty of water. Your optician can also recommend eye drops that can help."

Our eyes aren't the only sense that suffers, as audiology director Kevin Thomas explains: "High alcohol consumption over a long period of time, much like the festive season, can result in damage to the central auditory cortex of the brain which can then lead to brain shrinkage. The damage to the auditory nerve then adds up, meaning even moderate drinkers are at risk.

"Research has shown that heavy and even social drinking can damage the part of the brain that enables you to hear. So, while our actual ears may be functioning properly after consuming alcohol, the reaction on our brain can cause hearing loss."

That is why going dry is not only great news for our livers but other parts of our body will benefit too.

Chief Medical Officer wishes everyone a healthier New Year

MANY of us take the opportunity of the New Year to think about how we want to improve our health and well-being in the year ahead.

The Chief Medical Officer for Wales, Dr Frank Atherton, says the key to lasting change is to get support, whether from friends and family or from the many programmes designed to help.

"One of the top new year's resolutions is to quit smoking, which we know is a really difficult habit to break; but it is one of the best things you'll ever do for your health.

"We know that you're up to four times more likely to succeed in your efforts to give up smoking with free NHS support than you are by going it alone, so take your first step towards a healthier 2020 by contacting Help me Quit, the free NHS Wales service.

Call 0800 085 2219, Text HMQ to 80818 or visit helpmequit.wales for free, effective and tailored help and support.

"We know that physical activity is hugely beneficial to our health, both in terms of achieving and maintaining a healthy weight and contributing to our happiness and wellbeing.

"Even relatively small increases in physical activity can improve our health and quality of life, and it doesn't have to be working out at the gym or running marathons, unless that's enjoyable and achievable for individuals.

"Gardening, walking, and carrying shopping all count, so try to incorporate more activity into everyday life wherever possible and you'll feel the benefit."

He added: "The start of a new year is often a time when we think about our weight, and it's a fact that achieving a healthy weight is one of the most effective ways to reduce the risk of long term health conditions such as diabetes, heart disease and cancers. "Changing daily lifestyle habits can be challenging, but it can be done, and our new plan to tackle obesity sets out the ways in which we will help people to break old habits and create healthy new ones.

"Embedding healthy behaviours from a young age is key, so if one of your resolutions is to help your children live a healthy life, Every Child Wales provides lots of ideas to get you on the right track.

"The new year is also a good time to think about how we can reduce our alcohol intake in order to reduce the risks to our health. With January just around the corner, giving up alcohol for just one month can have some amazing health benefits including better sleep, more money in your pocket, healthier insides, more energy, brighter skin and much more."

Garden scheme raises £35,000

THE National Garden Scheme (NGS) in Glamorgan is thanking garden enthusiasts who helped raise just under £35,000 during 2019.

Under the scheme, private gardens are opened for a day, with the proceeds from entry fees and refreshment sales going to charities chosen by the NGS.

Spokeswoman Rhian James said: "This year, open gardens have helped to support nursing and health charities including Macmillan, Marie Curie and Horatio's Garden.

"Some of the funds have gone to wonderful new facilities and this year we welcomed the opening of The Y Bwthyn NGS Macmillan Specialist Palliative Care Unit at The Royal Glamorgan Hospital in Llantrisant.

"We also look forward to Cardiff's very own Horatio's Garden at the University Hospital Llandough, with work now started to create a garden at the Spinal and Neurological Centre for patients, their families and staff."

She continued: "This year there have been some wonderful highlights to share. This was the first year opening with the National Garden Scheme for a number of gardens. At 164, Redlands Road, Penarth, a large urban garden, there was a feast for the eyes and an explosion of colour, opening at the height of the summer.

"We had some fantastic group gardens opening in 2019 exemplifying how a group of gardens within a village or small town can make for a memorable day out. Llanmaes Gardens proved to be a great inspiration for our volunteer photographers, who captured some beautiful images for us to share with you on the NGS website.

"Dinas Powys is another great example of a group of gardens opening under one entry fee, offering a variety of garden styles to see in one day.

"If you love to be inspired by gardens and want to visit in 2020, a great place to plan your visit is via our website. In 2020 over 30 gardens will open in Glamorgan, with eight new gardens and 10 opening 'By Arrangement'.

"If you are unable to make it to the general openings, the 'By Arrangement' gardens are happy to welcome you at a more suitable time by arrangement with the garden owner. Please feel free to get in contact with us to find out more or connect with us on social media at www.ngs.org.uk"

St Athan rain defeats the Glamorgan farmers!

Winning golfers Brian Jones, sponsor Martyn David with Father Christmas (alias Andrew Thomas), Robbie Llewelyn and Tim Jarvis.

FOR only the second time in 35 years of playing monthly golf, the Christmas meeting arranged for members of the Glamorgan Farmers' Society was reduced to nine holes due to adverse weather at St Athan Golf Club.

With playing conditions deteriorating shortly after the first group had completed nine holes, the society captain Clive Thomas sensibly called a halt to proceedings, much to the satisfaction of all 29 competitors.

Luckily for Andrew Thomas who, unfortunately, was unable to attend the evening presentation ceremony, a front nine score of 16 Stableford points was just enough to return home with a voucher for a goose, courtesy of the day's generous sponsor Mr Martyn David of Picketston Poultry Ltd.

The runner-up with 15 points was local farmer Brian Jones, followed by Robbie Llewellyn, Tim Jarvis and Neil McLean who all scored 14. John Davies, with 13 points, won the over-80s competition, just seeing off the challenge of Glyn Watts-Jones who finished with 12.

Nearest the pin on the Watts & Morgan (Cowbridge) sponsored par-3 holes were society president Geraint Davies and Hugh Williams, now playing off his reduced handicap of just four.

Clive Edwards featured in the prize giving when returning home with the Llanerch Vineyard & Restaurant sponsored longest drive prize and jet-setting retired farmer David Williams from Llancadle returned home with half a dozen eggs when correctly guessing just 18 balls would make it back to the clubhouse, which raised £60 for the Injured Jockeys Charity.

The next meeting of the society will be on Thursday, January 30, at Pyle & Kenfig Golf Club, kindly sponsored by Mr Gino Cocco of Llanharan Concrete Co Ltd.

Finally captain Clive Thomas and members of the Glamorgan Farmers' Golf Society wish golfers throughout the Vale a very Happy and Blessed New Year.

Porthcawl complete a season's double over Ystradgynlais

FOLLOWING the previous week's victory at Pyle, Porthcawl went on the road to record a comfortable double in the Swansea Valley at Ystradgynlais, winning by 30–5.

The village hosts, always a side to be reckoned with due to their strong pack, showed great control to thwart early Porthcawl efforts to use a plentiful supply of ball and it was fully half an hour before flanker Louis Protheroe, grandson of former Bridgend and Aberavon stalwart Paul Stenner, broke through the home defence to set up the ruck and earn an easy penalty, which fly-half Josh White put over to open the scoring at nil-3.

Led well by skipper Leon McNally, Porthcawl also had some great driving play from props Harry Olding and perpetual workhorse Jamie Uren, which paved the way in wearing down the home defence.

A superb rip of possession by hooker Will Lampard led to a second penalty chance for White from 30 metres and nil-6 although this was scant reward for the amount of possession the Seaweeds had enjoyed to that point.

A chance for the first try of the match was squandered, however as Porthcawl's four on two overlap resulted in a dropped pass, the chance now gone, going into the break at just nil-6.

The start of the second half was to see a better level of execution by Porthcawl and when after 50 minutes, opportunity came, they didn't disappoint.

Superb hands by lock Kyle Galtry made the opening, the ball recycled by McNally and the result a superb try for flanker Ben Asprea, goaled by White and nil-13.

White then added another penalty as Protheroe's industry at the breakdown won the chance, before a super drive into defence from a lineout saw the ball released and the skipper McNally, showing deft footballing skills, kicked through the flat defence and won the race to touch down for a marvellous individual score at the posts, with White's conversion bringing it to 23 without reply.

While the scoreline didn't flatter the Seaweeds at all, neither did it reflect the industry of the home side for whom captain Ethan Nicholls was a smart operator who kept his side on the go from scrum-half.

Indeed, it was Nicholls who set up the position from which left wing Emyr Addey scooted over for a deserved unconverted try to get Ystrad on the board.

This score seemed to spur the hosts into throwing the ball around more readily, however that can sometimes be counter-productive and this proved so as Porthcawl sub Thomas Wilson intercepted near halfway and fairly galloped away down the left touchline to cross at the corner for a great try, bettered only by White's outstanding conversion to round off the scoring for Porthcawl and another victory which keeps them in third spot and in promotion contention.

Full-back Tom Davies was faultless throughout for the Seaweeds and deserves a mention, as does scrum-half Jak Robbins, who kept the possession flowing and was a terrier around the fringes; and coach Rhys James will be pleased to get a win on the board before Saturday's visit to Seven Sisters.

At last! A home winner for the Welsh Grand National

On and Off the Turf with Brian Lee

JOCKEY Jack Tudor, 17, from Merthyr Mawr and trainer Christian Williams of Ogmore-by-Sea made horse racing history at Chepstow Racecourse during the Christmas holiday when scoring a brilliant win in Wales' most famous horse race, the Welsh Grand National.

The horse involved, Potters Corner, ended the 54-year wait for a Welsh victory as Norther, trained by Denzil Jenkins in the Vale and which won in1965, was the last horse trained in Wales to win the race.

Former novice champion point-to-point rider Tudor drove his mount home to a length and a three-quarter win over Trucker's Lodge and told the press: "These are the races you dream of winning as a kid. My parents said I used to cry until they took me outside and sat me on a horse and I shut up then!''

The horse is part owned by Welsh Rugby Union international player Jonathan Davies and although returned at odds of 8-1, was at 33-1 leading up to the race.

Christian Williams in the 2007 Welsh Grand National riding Halcon Genelardias and giving the winner Miko De Beauchene 1st 7lbs, was beaten just a head in the race and, but for a mistake at the last, might well have won. Christian was also second in the 2005 race on Hero's Collognes which was well beaten by L'Aventure.

Racegoers from the Vale also had plenty to cheer about in the previous race when Tim Vaughan's Eva's Oskar and Evan Williams' Clyne fought out the finish, with victory going to the former by two-and-a-half- lengths. A 17-2 chance, Eva's Oskar was partnered by stable jockey Alan Johns.

Ten things you might not know about the Welsh Grand National

1 The first Welsh Grand National was held at Cardiff's Ely Racecourse in 1895 over a distance of two miles and four furlongs and was won by Deerstalker, partnered by former Flat racing jockey George Mawson.

2 More than 40,000 racegoers flocked to Ely Racecourse in 1896 to see the famed Aintree hero 12-year-old Cloister, ridden by Wales' Gwyn Saunders-Davies, beat the five-year-old Greenhill by two lengths.

3 In 1901, only four of the original 28 entries went to post and Gangbridge, ridden by his owner Mr Herbert S Sidney, came home 15 lengths ahead of Kirkland, the 1905 winner of the Aintree epic. To this day Kirkland remains the only horse actually trained in Wales to have won the Aintree Grand National.

4 The 1925 Welsh Grand National went to the Keith Piggott ridden Vaulx, which came home 10 lengths ahead of Old Tay Bridge, which was unlucky not to have won the Aintree Grand National.

5 In 1927 victory went to 13-year-old Snipe's Bridge which remains to this day the oldest winner of the race at Ely Racecourse. Snipe's Bridge was partnered by Willie Gurney and won by a length from the seven-year-old Animated.

6 The attendance at Ely Racecourse in 1936 was reported to have been the highest in years, no doubt brought about by the appearance of the legendary Golden Miller, a winner of an unprecedented five Cheltenham Gold Cups and a Grand National. Sadly The Miller, which carried top weight of 12st 7lb, could only finish third behind Sorley Boy and Free Wheeler.

7 The only Welsh Grand National to be held at Newport's Caerleon Racecourse was in 1948 when 10-year-old Bora's Cottage, trained by Captain Ryan Price and ridden by Eddie Reavey, won at odds of 100-8.

8 Before Christian Williams' Potters Wheels won in 2019, the last time a horse trained in Wales won the race was in 1965 when former Welsh point-to-pointer Norther, ridden by Terry Biddlecombe and trained in the Vale by Denzil Jenkins, who during the war had commanded a squadron of fighter pilots, beat the Fred Winter-trained Quintina.

9 In 1991, the Martin Pipe-trained Carvill's Hill, shouldering a hefty 11st 12lbs, left his 16 rivals trailing when coming home 20 lengths ahead of Party Politics under Peter Scudamore.

10 In 1993, Riverside Boy gave trainer Martin Pipe his third successive win in the race when ridden by Richard Dunwoody. The previous year he had won it with Run For Free.

More wins for Evan Williams and Connor Brace

HEREFORD Racecourse has always been a lucky one for Llancarfan's Evan Williams and last Friday his seven-year-old BallyBreen, partnered by Connor Ring, landed the three mile and one furlong British Racing Handicap Chase at odds of 16-1.

BallyBreen got home by half-a-length from Eaton Miller with the favourite Kilcrea Bridge a further two-and-a-half lengths away in third place.

However, a 280 mile trip to Plumpton on the Sunday failed to pay dividends when his nine-year-old Billy Bronco was never in the hunt in the handicap chase and was pulled-up by stable jockey Adam Wedge.

Conor's Wincanton winner

BRIDGEND'S Connor Brace continues his good form and last Saturday at Wincanton, riding Hurricane Harvey, the odds-on favourite for his boss Fergal O'Brien, Connor won the novices' hurdle.

Another Welsh jockey who had plenty to smile about at Wincanton was Sean Bowen, who won on 12-1 shot ItsOnlyRockAndRoll and 16-1 chance Sir Irvan.

Evan Williams's Sign Of War, under stable jockey Adam Wedge, won the novices' handicap chase at Chepstow on Monday (6/1/20). The six-year-old, which was returned at odds of 11-1 won by one-and-a-quarter lengths from Lady Kingsmill.

Winter golf continues at Brynhill

AFTER the recent heavy rain, the course at Brynhill Golf Club was reduced to 16 holes for Sunday's four ball better-ball winter competition.

Top of the pile on the day were Peter Cooper and Colin Lewis – a bit like balsamic vinegar and strawberries these two, it's a weird pairing that works, their 43 points being enough to bump Mickey Perry and Phil Underdown into second on a back nine count back, with Richard Pierce and Gareth Davies securing third.

Ben makes an early start on his hole-in-one tally

GETTING a hole in one at golf is always a big deal but as with life itself, the share out isn't always fair.

Some top quality professionals look back on their career and wonder why they never had one, while there are distinctly average players out there who claim maybe half a dozen.

So, there will plenty of club golfers who will be more than a touch envious of Ben Browne, who has just recorded his first at the age of just 12!

What's more, Ben can claim a 'proper' hole in one – one that did not depend on a lucky bounce.

If you talk to golfers who have recorded holes in one, they can sometimes be a touch evasive. They're a little bit reluctant to recall that the shot was heading for a greenside bunker before taking an unlikely kick!

However, Ben has rock solid evidence that his shot headed straight for the pin, with no lucky bounces involved.

Ben, who is in his second year at Cowbridge Comprehensive School, was playing at Cottrell Park with the club professional Gareth Bennett, who is also coaching him.

Ben's father, Peter, told The GEM: "They were on the Button course, and on the second, a 105-yard par three, Ben took out an eight iron.

"It's a blind tee shot, with a hump in front of the landing area, but they thought Ben had come close when they heard a metallic sound just as the ball landed.

"When they got there, the ball was in the hole, and the pitch mark had carved a piece out of the lip of the cup!"

He added: "Ben has been out hitting a ball since he could walk, but has started having lessons and playing more seriously for just over a year.

His handicap at the moment is 29, and he is hoping to kick on next year!"

St Mary's seniors are out with the old and in with the new

FOR their last game of 2019, St Mary's senior section played an individual stableford competition.

Due to the gloomy weather and soggy course conditions, the field of 23 opted to play the match over a reduced course of just 12 holes.

The players did, indeed, find muddy and wet conditions throughout and the greens were not at their usual best due to a lack of respite from the seemingly incessant rain. Scoring, nevertheless, was reasonable with a level par 24 points sufficient for former captain Hugh Williams to claim the victory. Ray Stacey was placed second, one point back on 23 .

Just two days later, for their first game of 2020, just 14 members teed off in another stableford competition played over an even shorter course of 10 holes.

At close of play, current captain Steve Phillips and Jon Paton were declared joint victors, each carding a two better than par score of 22 points.

Cowbridge battle back for an important win over Taffs Well

HAVING finished 2019 in style against Llanishen, Cowbridge were looking to start the New Year in a similar vein at the Athletic Ground last Saturday against fourth-placed Taffs Well.

It did not start well as the visitors kicked off and were awarded a penalty within the minute, easily converted. Things got worse soon after as Cowbridge attacked but a pass was intercepted and the Taffs Wells wing sprinted 50 metres for a converted try.

Despite some Cowbridge pressure after 15 minutes, Taffs Well increased their lead with a second penalty. Cowbridge finally settled down and from the kick off captain Ross Gibbon drove forward with scrum half Hywel Williams taking the ball on, resulting in a penalty.

Another penalty was awarded from the driving lineout and centre Tom Hannah made no mistake with the kick.

The boys now had their tails up and powerful running from Aaron Bowman, Dai Popham and Tom Higgins. The pressure continued and a missed penalty was soon followed by a converted one for Gaz Williams-Davies, making it 6-13.

The next few minutes was all Taffs Well, resulting in a well taken second try.

Half time: Cowbridge 6 Taffs Well 18.

Cowbridge started the second half with great intent and a fine kick by full back Rhydian Williams into the Taffs Well 22 resulted in a scrum five metres out. Following words with certain constantly bickering visiting forwards, Gibbon,Bowman and Jack Anderson drove to the line, only to be penalised two metres out.

However, Cowbridge won the ensuing lineout, followed by a penalty in front of the posts which Williams-Davies calmly converted. Dan Holder joined the fray as Taffs Well attacked from the kick off but with confidence growing, Cowbridge regained possession as backs Tom James, Adam Dix and Will Williams ran the ball into the 22 and were awarded a penalty.

Another great lineout take by Gibbon and a massive forward drive saw Dan Holder crash over the line under a pile of bodies for Williams-Davies to convert. It was now 16-18.

Unfortunately, prop Dai Popham was injured soon after the kick and was replaced by the evergreen Chris Morrris (Dai went to hospital with a fractured eye socket and possible eye damage – we wish him well).

A towering up and under was well fielded by full back Williams followed by a Cowbridge penalty. Gibbon again secured the lineout ball and scrum half Williams split the defence with a fantastic break, passing to the supporting Gibbon to sprint over from 20 metres.

Despite a yellow card, Taffs Well battled their way into the Cowbridge 22 but great defence, particularly by Holder, Craig Boxall, Higgins and Bowman drove them back. Further Cowbridge penalties took them up-field and to the final whistle.

Final score: Cowbridge 21 Taffs Well 18.

Truly a game of two halves. At 18-6 down at half time, due to the powerful running from the Taffs Well backs, particularly their outstanding full back, Cowbridge looked out of it; but what a second half. The boys just never gave up and increased in confidence as the game progressed: a fine win.

This Saturday we travel to Abercynon, another tough one; then it's Gilfach Goch at home on the 18th, followed by Cilfynydd away on the 25th. There's then a break for the Italy and Ireland games until February 15, when we're home against Llantwit Fardre.

Assuming there's enough interest the club will be organising coaches to the home Six Nations games. If anyone is interested details can be found on the clubhouse notice board.

Llantwit Major stumble, but are saved by late winner

LLANTWIT Major AFC welcomed Taffs Well to Windmill Lane for the return fixture of their double header, looking again to gain a valuable three points having defeated them the previous week.

Llantwit immediately went on the attack and within eight minutes, from a free kick 30 yards out from their opponents' goal, Llantwit striker Rob Jones met Nathen Jones cross to head home.

This was the ideal start for Llantwit, but this did not deter Taffs Well, who were unfortunate not to equalise in the 26th and 27th minutes when Llantwit defenders Kristian Evans and Sean Williams both made goal-line clearances.

Llantwit withstood a period of sustained pressure from Taffs Well and in the 35th minute, Llantwit centre forward Josh Morgan headed just wide from a cross by Nathan Jones.

A minute later, from another cross in from the same player, defender Sean Williams' header brought out a fine save from Taffs Well keeper Callum Davies.

In the 37th minute, the Llantwit pressure was finally rewarded and it was Rob Jones again who was alert in the goal area and, from an acute angle, he scored his second goal with a right footed shot from close range.

Half time arrived with Llantwit holding a comfortable 2–0 lead. In the opening exchanges of the second half, it appeared Llantwit were happy to sit on their lead and Taffs Well were denied a goal in the 58th minute by keeper Jack Lansdown when he made a tremendous save from close range at the far post.

Again, Lansdown had to make another fine save in the 72nd minute when he blocked a shot from Taffs Well captain Sam O' Sullivan when he broke through on goal.

In the 75th minute the Taffs Well pressure was finally rewarded when they scored from a shot that was deflected by a Llantwit defender.

Taffs Well scored their second goal in the 82nd minute and from having a healthy lead at half time Llantwit now found themselves panicking.

However, in the 90th minute, Llantwit had a slice of luck when a shot from substitute Kristian Smith from just outside the Taffs Well goal area hit the inside of the post and the rebound came off the back of Taffs Well keeper Callum Davies as he attempted to make the save, and the ball ended up in the back of his goal.

Llantwit managed to see out the remaining minutes of injury time, although they had centre half Kristian Evans sent off for a second yellow card, along with a Taffs Well player following a skirmish as tempers became frayed.

This was another valuable three points gained for Llantwit and their next league game in the JD Cymru South Championship is away to current League leaders Swansea University on January 11, kick-off 2pm.

Llantwit Major: Jack Lansdown, Jamie Miller (Dafydd Owen 79), Sean Williams, Kristian Evans, Kyran Gardner, Jonathan Fletcher (Capt) (Kristian Smith 45), Jonathan Butler, Nathan Jones, Rob Jones, Ben Cripps (Mike Hartley 7), Josh Morgan:

Subs not used: Barry Whitelam and Lewis James:

Honesty is the best policy for Llantwit

THE Blood and Blacks kept their unbeaten tag with another hard-fought 15–13 win at the Recreation Ground against visitors Tonyrefail.

Two tries from wing Rory Budina and a penalty and conversion from the boot of Loz Howley were enough to sneak a win against an impressive and resilient opponent. In the reverse fixture earlier in the season Llantwit won comfortably, but this was a different Tonyrefail side.

They took no time in showing their wares with plenty of early hits and some fast-running loose forwards. With Llantwit scrambling all over the park in defence it was no surprise that the visitors were first over the whitewash, their try coming after a long period of possession finally saw them gain an overlap and with some nice handing they went over in the corner at the School End. The conversion sailed just wide.

Llantwit were then dealt a heavy blow with their talisman in player/coach Stu Edbrooke leaving the field with a concussion. Tonyrefail maintained their dominance throughout the remainder of the first half with Llantwit virtually penned in their own half.

Although they didn't muster much attacking flair, they more than made up for it in a solid defensive performance which limited the visitors to the solitary try despite the lion's share of possession. And before the break, Llantwit clawed back some vital points with a penalty kick by Howley. The half time score was 3–5.

Some strong words must have been said in the Llantwit huddle during the break as they started the second half in furious style with some good periods of possession, which led to a lovely set of phases culminating with No 8 Jamie Lewis giving a lovely pass out of the tackle to wing Rory Budina, who sped over in the corner. Howley converted from near the touchline for Llantwit to lead for the first time at 10–5.

But the visitors soon came storming back and after what seemed an eternity of possession in the Llantwit 22, the solid Llantwit defensive wall finally crumbled with the Tonyrefail tight forwards rumbling over. The conversion, though was just a tad wide for their kicker and the scoreline remained deadlocked at 10–10.

With the game fast heading into the last quarter it was no place for the faint hearted as both teams hammered into each other in search of the points to pinch this enthralling game. They went at it to and fro, time and time again, much to the dismay of both sets of nervous supporters.

The deadlock was finally broken by Llantwit conceding a scrummage penalty in kicking range, which Tonyrefail slotted over for a three-point window.

Llantwit though were not done yet and used their driving maul to great effect and thought they had got their just reward when one such endeavour allowed the backs to spread the ball wide to wing Evan Holloway to cross in the corner. But the Llantwit linesman very honestly judged that he had a foot in touch and over-ruled the match official.

Dismayed as they were, Llantwit with great character immediately went back to task and this time they weren't to be denied as they spread it to the opposite wing and Budina went over in the corner. Howley couldn't add the conversion so it was 15–13 with just minutes left on the clock. Tonyrefail came mighty close but the Blood and Blacks just had enough left in their arsenal to see it out.

Another narrow win then for the league leaders and there will be a lot of work going on this week in the training paddock as by their own appraisal, the team feel they are not firing on all cylinders at the moment; but what they can take from this game is a great display of guts and determination to battle back and take the spoils.

Man of the match was our grandad prop Tony Burrows who, at the soon to be ripe age of 50, had to once again don his ageing boots for the cause. Further mention goes to tight forwards Dan Baden and Jamie Lewis who had powerful performances.

And one last commendation to our linesman and vice-chairman David 'Wes' Liscombe who now has the tongue-in-cheek label of being the only honest linesman in community rugby.

Well done, Mr Liscomb. There is only one way to win and that is by fair means, not foul.

This week the Llantonians have yet another tough task ahead of them as they take the always daunting trip to the heart of the Rhondda Valley to face Wattstown, who are in a rich vein of form and will have the target of being the first to topple the league leaders. Kick-off is at 2:30pm.

The Vale of Glamorgan Football League latest

HOLTON Road took a giant step toward the Premier Division title as they defeated third place Cadoxton Imps 2–0 to maintain their unbeaten record.

Goals from Ben Pearce and Linford Harris ensured that Holton Road keep the pressure on leaders AFC Rhoose, who took the bragging rights in the Ceri Road derby against Cardiff Airport as they comfortably won 4–0. Holton Road sit four points behind Rhoose but with three games in hand.

Island Marine were finally back in league action and back with a bang with a 3–1 victory over Cowbridge Town. Marine have games in a hand on everyone and this is a win that could set them on a run.

Tynewydd extended their unbeaten run to four games as Craig Rattenbury's strike gave The Inn an impressive 1–0 triumph over reigning champions Barry Athletic.

Penarth Town continue to find good form and they carried it into the derby against Cogan Coronation, winning emphatically 5–1, Rhys Fford starred for Town as they are making Cwrt Y Vil a fortress again.

In Division One, Cadoxton Barry's unbeaten run came to a screeching halt as leaders AFC Rhoose B thumped them 6–2. Rhoose B sent out a frightening message to the rest of the division as they are now odds on favourites for the title. Caddy Barry, however, do have three games in hand on their rivals and but sit 12 points behind them now, so the race isn't over but can anyone really stop Rhoose B?

That result allowed Barry Vikings to make second place their own as they pulled off a thrilling 3–2 win over Vale United, the goals coming from Mathew James, Cory James and a last minute winner from Harry Lambert.

Cwm Talwg continue to show how difficult they are to break down and this week added goals to their equation as they picked up their third win of the campaign with an impressive 2–1 win over Vale Madrid to leapfrog them in the table.

St Athan B made it two wins in a row with an excellent 4–1 win over Island Marine B, a first senior hat trick from 17-year-old James Clancy helping Saints B up to seventh.

Penarth Town B produced the days most stunning result as they thrashed Rhoose Social 7-0 at the Butts.

Finally, SP Billy picked up their first league win of the season, by 5–2 victory over Holton Road B.
